THE SITUATION LAST NIGHT.

CINCINNATI, 22.—The situation continues very much mixed. Bayard at this hour clearly has the lead, with Payne apparently next in order, but while Bayard's supporters are earnest, many of the Payne men, in the New York delegation, are at heart against him and are ready to drop him as soon as they have a clear choice for disregarding Tilden's wishes. Tilden and Bayard are both considered out of the way, though a few friends of the latter still persist in urging the policy of his nomination. Field's managers are working hard to secure complimentary votes for him, and have secured the promise of the half of Georgia's vote, the remainder going to Bayard. In this way they seek to give Field a fair looking start, but there is as yet no evidence that he can approach anywhere near the nomination. New York delegates are passive in stating that all they ask is any candidate with whom success is probable. The wisest democratic managers admit the strength of the republican ticket and realize the necessity of great care in selecting candidates to oppose them, who will be satisfactory in Northern and Western States.

All disposition within the State New York as the pivotal State, but her delegates shrink from the responsibility of naming the nominee.
If any leading candidate to-day can secure the nomination, Bayard probably the man, but nobody has yet seen where two-thirds can be had for either him or Payne. All the others are far behind. Thurman is considered out of the race by many since the vote of a majority of his delegates at the Ohio convention. The delegates from Ohio, in the New York delegation, are at heart against Bayard, except for Thurman. New York and New Jersey and Connecticut could practically concede votes to him, but they are not likely to do so.
Southwestern vote, as it is, remains true that no man can form an intelligent opinion of the possible results of the chances of the dark horse seem the best. The names mentioned in this connection is that of Gen. Dent, formerly of California, but this is only a complementary. The withdrawal of Tilden has complicated matters by developing multiple candidates in many States, splitting delegations into earnest factions, all of whom, however, will probably be settled as soon as any nomination is settled, and so there is no doubt of party unity at last.

Up to this time nothing in relation to the probable nomination has taken a definite shape. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut could agree as to a ticket, it looks as though the convention would readily accept the decision, so far as can be ascertained from the opinions of the members of delegations. But thus far no such united action has been agreed upon.

Bayard still appears to have the largest number of really earnest hearty supporters, but there is nothing yet to justify the expectation that he will win. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are considered the pivotal States, but they are not likely to be decided until the delegates from these States are settled. The delegates from Ohio, in the New York delegation, are at heart against Bayard, except for Thurman. New York and
but they are not likely to do so.

to do so. The delegates from Ohio,
