

SENATE WORKS ON COTTON SCHEDULE

La Follette Continues His Attacks on Changes in Dingley Rates.

CHAIRMAN ALDRICH REPLIES.

Made General Defense of Amendments Which He Declared Were Necessary.

Washington, June 4.—Through forenoon, afternoon and evening session the senate today labored on the cotton schedule.

Mr. La Follette completed his long speech, attacking changes in the Dingley rates recommended by the senate finance committee, and replied to Senator Penrose's charge last night that he was shamming sickness as an excuse for his absence from the night session. He said he was not ill, but was very tired and was resting to be in shape to continue his speech today. He declared Mr. Penrose might perform a greater service for the country and his state if he would account for his own time when not in the senate.

At the night session, Chairman Aldrich replied to Mr. La Follette's assaults upon the work of the finance committee and made a general defense of amendments, which, he asserted, were necessary.

SWELTERING TEMPERATURE.
Throughout the day the temperature in the chamber was sweltering. It is said another effort will be made to obtain a vote on the cotton schedule tomorrow.

Mr. Aldrich told the senators that he proposed to make a statement explaining the committee's amendments, "and to correct any misapprehension instilled in their minds by a torrent of misinformation and misrepresentation."

"The amendments suggested apply to but a small proportion of the committee on schedule," said Mr. Aldrich. "If one would have listened to the debate one would suppose the amendments applied to the whole schedule, and that three-fourths of the rate of the Dingley law would have been increased. But only 10 per cent of the schedule is affected."

ALDRICH ON COTTON SCHEDULE.
Mr. Aldrich reviewed the history of the cotton schedule, saying that in no tariff act have there been fixed rates so low as in the schedule pertaining to the cotton cloth and cotton manufactures generally. He said cloths valued at from 7 to 20 cents now pay specific rates and these have not been changed by the senate bill.

"These cloths cover 92 per cent of all the cloths imported and 97 or 98 per cent of all the cloth manufactured in the United States," he added. "It will be seen, therefore, that the suggested changes apply to a small proportion of the schedule."

Reviewing various court decisions in reference to the schedule, Mr. Aldrich declared that the government has paid out as much as $5,000,000 a year as result of duties on account of decisions resulting from ambiguity in the Dingley law. He said a recent decision of the supreme court would require the government to make a refund of $500,000.

He said the government has been placed at a serious disadvantage through the fact that the same attorney could not be had to look after the government's interest in the lower and higher courts. He declared that nearly every man who showed great ability in this service of the government had been employed by importers to prosecute cases against the government.

The existing cotton schedule, he said, did not remedy the method of meeting such conditions, and he added that the committee in another paragraph would attempt to deal with the subject. He had reference to an amendment intended to prevent under valuations, which the senate has not taken up.

Mr. Aldrich said that estimates of ad valorem equivalents of specific rates could not be accurately figured when the value of the goods ranged from 7 to 30 cents a square yard. He said the committee's rates were lower than those intended by the Dingley law, although they might be higher than those under which certain goods are now admitted, because of misrepresentation.

He declared that nobody but importers have protested against the schedule, and he said that the bill rates as being too high. He read a letter from an appraiser in the New York customs house, stating that goods affected by the decision, placing certain cotton cloths under the paragraph for cloths assessed according to the count of threads, amounted to 10 to 12 per cent of importations.

MENACE TO AMERICAN GOODS.
Declaring that the menace to the American cotton goods industry will be the manufacture of those goods by Japan, Mr. Aldrich said that Japan today has four large cotton manufacturing plants in operation and that it would be hard to say what would be the result if in the next 10 years Japan had 50 or 60.

He called attention to the cotton cents a day labor in Japan and to the ability of Japanese in decorative work. He predicted, however, that the United States would become the greatest producer and manufacturer of cotton goods in the world if its interests were properly protected.

He reviewed the progress of the southern states in the manufacture of cotton goods, declaring that South Carolina has become second only to Massachusetts, that North Carolina is third and Georgia fourth.

He predicted that when another bill is drafted, the south would have three-fourths of the cotton mills.

Mr. Aldrich appealed directly to southern senators to meet the question fairly.

"I appeal to you directly," he said, "not to vote for this bill for I know that you will not do while I am in the senate, but look at this question affecting the prosperity of your section. The time will come when the south will be found standing shoulder to shoulder with the north in an effort to perpetuate this great industry."

Mr. Aldrich read the following letter, dated June 4, signed by four of the general appraisers, including William H. Parkhill, whose figures were quoted by Senator Doolittle and Senator La Follette:

"We all agree that the average rates imposed by paragraphs 213, 214, 215 and 216 of the bill as reported from the senate committee on finance are not greater than those imposed by the act of 1897 as originally construed upon the merchandise now in those paragraphs in the senate bill."

LA FOLLETTE ILLUSTRATES.

Illustrating his remarks with samples that he said had been procured through the chief examiner of the New York customs house, Mr. La Follette explained the difference in duties carried by the Dingley law, with the purpose of showing increases. An opportunity to rest was afforded Mr. La Follette when Senator Nelson suggested the absence of a quorum, and the roll was called. Although 88 senators answered to their names, there were only 30 present after Mr. La Follette had resumed.

He discussed at length the cost of mercerized fabrics. Upon being questioned by Mr. Dixon, Mr. La Follette admitted that he had not taken into consideration an amendment which was adopted in the paragraph on cotton thread and carded yarn, and he did not know how many of his estimated 70 increases had been reduced by that amendment.

When Mr. La Follette concluded the exhibition of his samples, Mr. Dixon inquired whether he would permit the senator from Utah, Mr. Smoot, to attempt to explain the changes in duties in each case.

Mr. La Follette said he would furnish samples of all the goods he had exhibited to every senator, and the senator from Utah could give his views then. He, however, declined to permit an interruption of his speech for that purpose.

That the cost of mercerization was less in this country than in England was asserted by Mr. La Follette, who added that the hours of labor in England are generally less than in the United States. In the last 15 years, he said, under improved systems of manufacture in this country, the cost of the production of cotton goods has decreased.

At 4:53 o'clock Mr. La Follette concluded his speech, having had the floor for nearly six hours. The senate then went into executive session.

ROOSEVELT VISITS AFRICAN MISSION

Much Pleased With What He Saw And With Co-operation Among The Missionaries.

IS AMPLE WORK TO BE DONE.

Particularly Appreciated the Way in Which the African Was Being Taught to Help Himself.

Kijabe, British East Africa, June 4.—

The members of the Roosevelt party, who arrived here yesterday afternoon on a special train from Nairobi and spent the night in camp near the railroad station, started out this morning to visit the local station of the Africa Inland mission, an American organization.

Mr. Roosevelt inspected the mission and afterward had luncheon with 40 missionaries and their wives. Rev. Mr. Hurlbert welcomed Mr. Roosevelt. In replying, the former president expressed his pleasure at being able to see the Africa Inland mission.

"I am glad to have seen the work personally," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "and to find you working together, as it would be no credit to the missionary, the settler or the official to otherwise. I have a peculiar feeling for the settlers working in this new country, as they remind me of my own people working in the western states, where they know no difference between easterner, westerner, northerner or southerner, and pay no heed to creed or birthplace."

"There is ample work to be done, and all had best work shoulder to shoulder. I believe with all my heart that large parts of East Africa will form the white man's country. Make every effort to build up a prosperous and numerous population. Hence, I am asking the settlers to co-operate with the missionaries and treat the natives justly and bring them to a higher level. I particularly appreciate the way your denominational industrial mission is striving to teach the African to help himself, by industrial education which is a prerequisite to his permanent elevation. It seems to me that you are doing your work in a spirit of disinterested devotion to an ideal."

DECOMPOSED BODY OF MURDERER FINLEY FOUND

Kallispell, Mont., June 4.—The badly decomposed body of Edward Finley, who murdered James Rafferty in cold blood, was found yesterday without warning in a saloon here on the night of Dec. 3, and disappearing in flight before the officers arrived, was discovered by Mrs. Paul Rafter in the dense underbrush in a couple two miles south of this city at 9 o'clock this morning.

The ghastly cadaver lay on its back clutching the stock trigger of a Winchester rifle, the same weapon with which death had been dealt to Rafferty, because of alleged short change by the bartender. The entire top of the skull was blown off.

The position of the body indicated Finley was lying down at the time he fired the fatal shot. Casper Zittnick, who was immediately notified, removed the corpse to the undertaking parlors, where an inquest was held this afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of suicide.

BRIDGE TENDER PREVENTED AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Chicago, June 5.—While the Jackson boulevard bridge was being swung last night to permit the passage of a boat, an automobile containing four persons crashed through the safety chain and sped on to the swinging structure.

G. S. Wegener of Oak Park, who was driving the car, lost control of it and at the east end of the structure it collided with a steel girder. Wegener was thrown from the automobile, which swerved and ran into the north curb, throwing the other occupants to the street.

The injured were Miss Mary Quinn; H. A. Russell, of Los Angeles, Cal.

G. S. Wegener and Mrs. G. S. Wegener.

But for the presence of mind of W. D. Haight, night bridge tender, the automobile with its occupants would have gone into the river. From the bridge house, where he operated the electric lever, Haight saw the machine rush through the chain and from the way the machine wobbled from side to side he knew it was beyond the control of the driver.

He stopped the swinging of the bridge and quickly turned it back to position. Had he failed to do this, the automobile must have gone into the river over the swinging structure.

HUSBAND'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Using Acid to Destroy Wife's Beauty, He Killed Her.

New York, June 5.—Because he thought his wife the most beautiful woman in the world, Casper Zittnick poured sulphuric acid over her face as she slept in their home, intending to mar her beauty and make her unattractive to other men, but the acid got into her eyes and penetrated her brain, killing her.

"This was the husband's excuse when brought before Judge Malone in general sessions court, having pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. He was sentenced to not less than 10 or more than 20 years in prison."

HARVARD FACULTY'S TRIBUTE TO DR. ELIOT

Cambridge, Mass., June 4.—Resolutions upon the retirement of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, ex-president of Harvard university, were adopted today by the faculty of arts and sciences. The chief sentiments expressed were that "the changes he has wrought in the university will be remembered as long as it endures. He has been a leader, not through his official position, but through force of character and intellect. His dealings with the teaching staff have been open and equitable and liberal to the extent of every available resource. Members of the faculty part with him with reluctance."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CANAL ROOF COLLAPSES.

Brussels, June 4.—The arched roof of the Villebroeck canal collapsed today at a point where the canal crosses the river Senne. The water in the canal poured through the rent into the river below and a neighboring village was flooded. The canal heads all the steam and trade in a standstill.

PERUVIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

Lima, Peru, June 4.—The Peruvian cabinet today tendered its resignation. It has been proved that the revolutionary outbreak of last week was engineered entirely by the followers of the Pirola brothers. A committee of the Liberal party today visited President Leguia and declaring that neither Dr. Durand nor Jose Oliva had taken part in the movement, requested that these men be set at liberty. The country is quiet.
