A TRIBUTE

TO MRS. ELIZABETH GODDARD ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF HER BIRTHDAY.

DEAR LADY—MY SISTER: I faint would express A wish for your welfare—a wish that will bless. 'Twere not well if your life were a pathway of ease, In which all that transpires is conspiring to please;— A life where no clouds and no shadows shall come, Where all is bright sunshine, sweet fragrance and bloom;— A life without object, care, use or design;— A life with no furnace, the gold to refine. Be assured, my dear lady, far better your life Be with sorrow and trying perplexities rife; That the gifts you're endow'd with thro' experience grow, And your power of endurance by tests you may show. It is needful to taste of the good and the ill, To prepare high positions with honor to fill. In proportion to labors, rewards will be given; May you earn in earth's workshop a fulness in heaven. May you don all the armor the Gospel requires, And invest all the energies wisdom inspires. In the course you're pursuing, be certain you're right, Then whate'er may oppose, neither shun nor invite. Unstinted by sloth and unlogg'd by abuse, May your faculties strengthen by practical use. May your usefulness grow, and your labors, tho' great, Increase year by year in responsible weight. To humanity's interests ever awake, Be firm in truth's conflict for righteousness' sake. There is much to replenish, and much to subdue, Which requires deep reflection and vigilance, too. The toil of the poor claims the heart and the hand; While retrenchment reforms, great exertions demand. Arouse every effort those ills to remove, Which sap the foundation of union and love; Which thro' worldly ambition and selfishness grow, And pander to vain ostentation and show. Set your face as a flint, else ambition and pride Will your precept and practice ignobly divide. May the rich consolations the gospel bestows, Under every bereavement, your sorrows compose. May your name in all future, in honor be known For your noble example—for the good you have done, That your peace, as a river, may constantly flow, Is the wish of your sister and friend, E. R. SNOW. Salt Lake City, March 17, 1871.

ON SWINE, FOWLS, &c.—J. Pugmire, Jr., chairman; John Passey, H. Duffin, John U. Stuckie, E. N. Austin. With such a list of officers and committee-men, combined with our great facilities for stock raising, a bright future opens up to this community in regard to pure blooded stock."
