

Earl, of Huntington, Emery County, was found to be on fire. Some of the neighbors extinguished the flames and then notified Mr. Earl, advising him either to remain at the place himself or get some one else to watch the premises for him. Mr. Earl concluded, however, that there was no further cause for alarm, as the fire had been discovered once and that the person or persons who had caused it would be afraid to return, that night at least. Accordingly he left and went home; but about one o'clock the cry of fire was again raised. This time the dwelling was in flames beyond all chance of saving it. It had been vacant for three days, upon the removal of the family of Brother E. C. Jorgensen. After the first fire had been put out, it was discovered that coal oil had been poured upon the roof, and that the liquid had run down the back wall. An empty bottle, containing coal oil was also found, lying against one of the windows. The house, it is stated, was insured. So far there is no direct clue to the perpetrator of the wicked deed. It is to be hoped that we are not going to have a repetition of the Bountiful fires in this place. CITIZEN.

Indian Tragedy in Idaho.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 15.—A nother killing is recorded at Cheyenne Agency. This time it is Indians instead of whites. At the inquest held on the remains of Hugh Boyle, Thursday, American Horse, the Cheyenne brave, testified to the fact of Head Chief, another Cheyenne, telling him on Saturday that he and Young Mule had killed a white man. When the body was found these two were absent, which satisfied the jury they were guilty, and a verdict in accordance was at once rendered. Since then the Indian police, twenty-five in number, have been looking out for them and today a telegram was received here by the sheriff from Captain Arnold, commanding at Fort Custer, that the Indian police and troops had surrounded and killed Head Chief and Young Mule yesterday. The same information comes from Agent Cooper in charge of the Cheyennes.

The report is received with much satisfaction here, as it evinces a willingness on the part of the tribe to punish individuals guilty of crimes. The Cheyennes have many young men who have grown up since the tribe has been at peace. It is these who make the trouble, as they are anxious to distinguish themselves. The old men discourage them, but cannot compel them. Captain Tully, the newly-appointed agent of the Cheyennes, is here awaiting the arrival of the commission, when he will take charge, relieving Cooper, who is special agent. —Herald.

Preserve the Eagle.

The following petition is being numerously signed in the city:

To the Honorable City Council of Salt Lake:

The undersigned have learned that it is contemplated to remove the Eagle Gate from its present position at the head of First East Street, and we herewith respectfully request that this be not done. We represent that the Eagle Gate was erected a third of a century ago, and has, therefore, become a familiar landmark to all this generation in Utah, and is known through pictorial representations and the visits of tourists throughout the civilized world. Not only is there a sentiment of affection for the gate on the part of a great majority of the citizens generally, which sentiment is particularly intense in those people residing in the neighborhood, or who frequently pass along South Temple Street, but the Eagle Gate is an object of great interest to the tourists and strangers who come to this city, many thousands of whom visit the place every year. We submit that the removal of the gate would be regarded as an unnecessarily offensive act on the part of the authorities, especially as the objection, which has been urged against the continuance of the old landmarks, namely, that it interferes with street traffic, is frivolous and untenable.

In view of the associations and all the circumstances, we feel justified in respectfully requesting your honorable body not to order the removal of the Eagle Gate, and in expressing the belief that you will comply with this, our humble request, you will but please the public sentiment of the citizens of Utah.

Deaf Mute Management.

As the public are now aware, there have been pending for some time, charges regarding the conduct of Prof. Metcalf, principal of the deaf mute department of the University of Deseret. In relation to this matter the following has been made public:

"To the Board of Regents of the University of Deseret:

"The undersigned, a majority of the advisory committee of the board, respectfully report:

"That we have investigated the charges made against Professor Metcalf, the principal of the deaf mute department, and find the charges are wholly unsupported and, in fact, groundless.

"We also report that, in our opinion, the management and discipline of Professor Metcalf has been
