NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Spokane, Wash., Farmer Kidnapped and Murdered.

SEQUEL TO A DIVORCE SUIT.

Relay Ride From Washington to Denver—Accidentally Shot—A Poor Crop Prospect.

As the result of a severe shock of earthquake at Fresno, Cal., the reservoir in the foothills was cracked.

Farmers about Colorado Springs are talking for a quarantine against Texas as it is said New Mexico sheep, because cattle follows in their trail.

George Tartot, aged about twenty years, in stooping down to drink from a spring about four miles from Angels Camp, Cal., on Monday, dropped his pistol from the holster, which struck a rock and exploded, the ball entering into the region of the heart, killing him instantly.

The laws of Montana do not permit the killing of prairie chickens before August 15. In spite of that fact, it is said that numerous people are already slaughtering that game. An application has been made to the county commissioners for the appointment of a game warden.

Sand from an artesian well in the rear of the Western hotel at Denver was found to contain gold last Saturday, and quite a thimbleful of it has since been collected. The well is 700 feet deep. The sand is below pumped as it never was before and not a kick is heard at the sand, says the Denver News.

The Shoshone (Idaho) county grand jury failed to find any indictment in the case of Kinsbone, the coin counterfeiter, who was brutally murdered by a pack of cowardly masked men. There are rewards to the sum of $7,500 offered for Kinsbone's murderers, as follows: $5,000 by the state; $1,000 by Shoshone county; $1,000 by Sheriff Cameron, of Shoshone county, and $500 by Superintendent Wright, of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan mining company. A reward of $2,500 has been offered.

The Bessemer (Col.) ditch and 17,000 acres of land will have been sold under foreclosure in default of interest payments and $1,000,000 first mortgage bonds. A. T. Bachelder, of New York, representing the trustee of the New York Security and Trust company, was the purchaser. The bondowners and their new rights are fully protected by an agreement with the purchaser and under a plan for reorganization.

The people of the southern part of Stevens county, Wash., are intensely excited over the kidnapping and murder of Charles Gloyzelis, a prominent farmer and Republican politician of Meyers Falls precinct. He was called out of his house at midnight, Monday, and has not since been seen. His hat, cut with a sharp instrument and covered with bloody hair has been found by a searching party. The missing man had incurred the enmity of the Populists of his neighborhood, and the feeling against him in that county was intense. A short time ago he was hung in effigy and a number of threats were made against his life.

W. H. Hunter, a railroad engineer on the Southern Pacific road, was stabbed in the left shoulder on Tuesday evening at San Francisco by his ex-wife, who was arrested on a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon. The couple were divorced some time ago. Hunter went to see his children, when upon a quarrel between himself and Mrs. Hunter ensued, which resulted in her jabbing a knife into his shoulder. Hunter tells a different story. He states that his ex-wife and a man named Joe Hall induced him to call at the house, where they pounced upon him and assaulted him. Mrs. Hunter refuses to discuss the matter.

Between the storekeepers and the hot winds that have prevailed over two-thirds of the corn belt, says a dispatch from Burlington, Col., there is very little left to fear the farmers over the coming fall and winter. Eastern Colorado had just commenced to recover from the drought that prevailed during the early part of the season, when this last misfortune cuts the silvers and leaves us practically without hope for the balance of the season. All crops in Kiowa county have been destroyed by hot winds and drought the past week except broom-corn. Some crops in the eastern end of the county are still alive, but without rain in a few days these will also be a failure.

Cheyenne (Wyo.) Leader: The great relay ride from Washington to Denver will begin August 6 at noon, when President Cleveland will hand the Washington cyclists a message to be carried overland to Gov. Waite of Colorado. The message is to be carried as rapidly as possible and to this end the cyclists of the various states through which runs the route decided upon, have perfected every arrangement. The time scheduled for the journey is eight days and the distance the message will be carried is 2,047 miles. The route lies through cities of ten different states. The Cheyenne bicycle club's representatives will receive the message from their Nebraska brethren at Julesburg and carry it to Greeley, via this city. The schedule time for the message to reach Cheyenne is August 1st at 3:30 o'clock in the morning.

Charles Gallick was fatally shot on Tuesday morning at Victor, Colo. He went to bed to his tent at the usual hour the previous night and was awakened by a man running around near his tent about daylight. He made an outcry and the intruder dashed out of the doorway with Gallick's rest in his hand, followed by the latter. A few feet from the door Gallick saw two confederates of the man he was chasing and one of them fired as he was returning to his tent. The ball entered his back just below the right shoulder blade and passed clean through his body, coming out close to his right nipple. The report of the gun brought a number of men to the scene, and the three bushwhackers ran in the direction of the Independence mine and made good their escape. Gallick is a carpenter by trade, quiet and inoffensive. He came to Victor from Fort Logan, Colo., where his family now resides. It is the general impression that the robbers and murderers are the same gang who attempted to rob the cabin of Superintendent Burns, of the Blue Bird mine last week, and held up the Rocky Mountain News circulators on Bull hill last Thursday night. The local citizens and citizens of Victor will make a determined effort to capture the rascals.
