AN ENGINEER'S TERRIBLE TRIAL

Engine Refused to Work and Train Was Stalled in the Park Avenue Tunnel.

HE OPENED THE THROTTLE.

Then Fell Unconscious to Floor of Cab -Push Engine Started Train and it Went Flying, Without Control.

New York, Dec. 23 .- With the throttle wide open and the engineer unconscious on the floor of the cab, a 5-yearold New York Central locomotive drawing six cars laden with stone, ran wild through Harlem early on Thursday morning and finally came to a standstill, wrecked, when it crashed into a locomotive of the Harlem division in the Motthaven yards.

Details of the accident became generally known for the first time last night through friends of the engineer, Elvy Deyo, of Poughkeepsie, who is now in Lebanon hospital, dying from burns and scalds. Three men who jumped from the train in the tunnel were lying unconscious at the track side when Deyo last saw them. What happened to them is a matter of conjecture. The accident is said to have been due to a lack of ventilation in the Conscious of the danger too that he might succumb to the fumes of the roal gas, he wet a big bunch of cotton waste at the tank and plastered it over his at the tank and plastered it over his mouth and nose. But the waste was lit-tle protection. Deyo was still trying to get the engine off the "dead center" when his head began to whirt. With a last effort of consciousness he pulled back the throttle lever. Just then a pushing engine came up behind and struck the long train and the impact e locomotive. The knocked Deyo, weak and dizzy, off his balance, and he fell to the floor of the cab unconscious. With the thruttle wide open the locomotive gathered speed. Deyo's body rested close to the open door of the fire box and the flames began to scorch him as they leaped out of the furnace. All the way through the long Park avenue tunnel the train flew. The switches were right and the draw bridge over the Harlem river was, fortunately, closed. The train dashed into the Motthaven yard of the New Haven road and ran into a light engine on the main track. Both locomotives were wrecked and Deyo was removed unconscious from

Health and Beauty

Beauty is the external proof of health; with failing health comes failing beauty. Woman's delicate organism is frequently over-taxed by arduous household duties, and the demands of society. The constant drain upon her vitality weakens her nervous system. The penalty is a tired, wornout, exhausted condition which destroys her appetite, robs her of rest, and at intervals causes much suffering and distress. When these conditions exist, the weakened nerves must be strengthened. Dr.Miles'Nervine will do this. It stimulates the action of all the organs, brings refreshing sleep, and drives away that look of care.

"I have taken Dr. Miles' Restorative fervine for years, as did my mother efore me. Whenever I feel tired, forn-out, or have headache, I always ke the Nervine and it strengthens it. I consider it a great remedy for ervousness or debility."

TRUE CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN COLOMBIA.

New York, Dec. 23.—Luis E. Bonilla, consul general of Colombia, yesterday addressed the press as follows:

"Sir-Kindly give publicity to the following important cablegram from his excellency, Gen. Rafaet Reyes, president of Colombia, in order that the true condition of the country may be known and confidence in the peace of Colom-bia assured. President Reyes is well capable of maintaining order through-out the country, being a man of in-domitable will and possessing wonder-ful activity. Moreover, the large ma-jority of the people in Colombia desire peace at any cost. The cablegram reads as follows:

"Bogota, Dec. 21, 1905.—Colombian Consul, New York—Absurd conspiracy discovered. Those responsible for it in prison. Will be judged by courtmartial. Country quiet. Peace secure. Exchange lowering from five to three.

(Signed.)

Enrique Perez, editor of the Pan American Review, also made public a communication, in which after refer-ring to the report that an attempt had een made at Bogota to dispose of President Reyes, he says:

"I am in a position to affirm that what took place in the city of Bogota on the 20th inst, was simply a ridic-ulous conspiracy, discovered in time and without any serious consequences. The conspiracy did not have the importance given to it by the correspondent of the state department. There is not the slightest probability of a revolution in Colombia, and dispatches received from Bogota explain the occurrence as of no consequence what

"While there may have been ocal political excitement, due to the lack of patriotism of a handful of political discontents belonging to the party or the family of the defeated candidate in the last presidential election, there is no foundation for the report as it has appeared."

At a meeting at Tsarskoe-Selo the monarsh expressed himself in very heated terms with reference to the want of ability of the ministers to meet the situation, and gave them three hours to come to some decision.

Failing this, the emperor said if they had so lost their heads he would take the reins into his own hands immediately, and would call a meeting of his military council to consider the advisability of declaring that the whole of Russia is in a state of siege. The ministers left in a very crestfallen state of mind.

SHOULD BE POPULAR.

This is What is Required of Colonels Nowadays.

In talking about national guard colonelcies today, an officer of the guard one clear in the colonel of a regiment knows anything about military affairs or not. The duties of actual commanding devolve upon subordinate officers, and a Fort Douglas officer told me the other day that he had not seen a colonel commanding his regiment in the field for 20 years. What is wanted of a colonel now is to be a popular man whose name will attract attention and regard; if he has money and is willing to spend it on the regiment, so much the better. Drilling now is by battalion and by company, not by regiment, and with this the colonel has really nothing to do. A man who can cut a fine figure at the head of his command on parade, and bring the regiment into favor and respect with the people at large, and to whom the members of the regiment can point with pride and say. "That man is our colonel," that is the kind of a man wanted. What did William Jennings Bryan know about military affairs when he was commissioned colonel of the Third Nebraska infantry? But his licutenant-colonel was a regular army officer, who knew how to command from A to Z, and it was he who did the actual commanding. said: "It doesn't make a particle of dif-

PEACE REIGNS

Curtain Goes Down on the Last Act of the Roaring Farce, "The Amateur Holdup."

SOPHOMORES REPRIMANDED.

Engineers Play a Smart Trick on Their Teacher, But Are Also Forgiven.

The curtain went down last night on the final act of the roaring farce "The Amateur Holdup" at the University of Utah, with the community once more at peace, the holdups contrite, the discipline committee victorious, and the final, a fatherly lecture to the "bold, bad sophomores" not to do it again.

Following the threat of the faculty to expel the one who was discovered, and the counter threat of the two classes involved, to bolt in a body, Chairman W. C. Ebaugh of the discipline committee brought the warring factions together, and produced peace. He attended the student body meeting called by President Harold M. Stephens, and in a conciliatory speech, pointed out that it was for the best interests of the school for the students not to become defiant, and for them to pass resolu-tions condemning the pranks of the so-phomores, and all similar outbreaks of juvenile spirit. He also advised that the sophomores engaged in the holdup appear before the faculty with their companion, and thus make his position

CLASS SHOULDERS BLAME. The two men then made themselves known, but their classmates refused to allow them to go in alone before the committee, so they decided to take the blame on the entire sophomore class. plame on the entire sophomore class. Part of the class, however had been imaginarance of the intended holdup, and finally the seven men who planned the deed, and knew of its carrying out, marched into the faculty meeting. With them came a messenger bearing a resolution from the assembled students, expressions that pressing their condemnation of the acts of the sophomores, and all such actions. The faculty heard the resolution, asked the sophomores if they agreed to it, and then dropped the entire matter with a lecture to the young men. The serious side of their escapade was one that had not till then presented itself

DON'T KNOW A THING.

An incident which came to light yesterday was an action of the juniors taken while the friction between students and faculty was at its height. An engineering class of 20 men was given an examination in bridge construction and hydraulic pumps under Prof. C. A. Overstom.

Overstrom.

Instead of answering the questions. some of them wrote on their papers, "don't know a d— thing about it. Wish you a merry Christmas and happy New Year," while others put down a egend to the effect that the bridges vere snowed in, and the pumps frozen up, with no chance for a thaw until after Christmas. Prof. Overstrom took it seriously at first, but finally decided to let it pass as a "Christmas joke. His examination after the holidays, how-ever, may be stiffened up for the benefit of the students.

OPINION OF STUDENTS.

Comment today on the case is varied. among many students, especially in the lower classes, the sentiment is that the case belonged to them alone, and since university work or class room exercises were not interfered with, it was not a case calling for faculty ac-tion. Antagonism to the discipline committee is apparent in some of the remarks, one by a freshman being to the effect that "the school is growing so fast the faculty can't keep up." It is not likely that further developments

TOLD FISH STORIES.

Salt lakers Swap Yarns on Possibility of Utah Streams

W. W. Riter and W. F James were exchanging fish sories today at the Deseret Savings back. Mr .'smes had a tale to unfold about a lot of eyeless fish he once saw swimming about in some Utah streams; but Mr. Riter "called him" with a story from the effects of which Mr.

James is still endeavoring to recover. Mr. Riter, who is sometimes referred to as the Iznak Walton of Utah, said that out by the point of the mountain, near Black Rock, in the spring bounds, there is a chub brand of fish that is so tennatous of life that one may cut its head off, clean its innards out, and even go so far as to broll it on one side in the "spider" and even then the fish will squirm and try to get back into the water. However, when the other side has been brolled to a brown finish, the chub really becomes deceased. Mr. Riter said he had once called the attention of Manager J. B. Clarke of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Pani road to this fact, and Mr. Clarke was inclined to regard the relator as related to the extinguished gent mentioned in the fifth chapter of Acts. However, Mr. Riter stuck to his story, and Mr. Clarke was led to believe that Utah must truly be the fountain head of some other remarkable things besides religious and political controversies.
