Can Battling Nelson successfully defend his title in a six-round fight? All these questions will be settled to-night at Philadelphia when the two little whirlwinds clash in a six-round Queens-bury argument. At this distance the Dane looks like the candy, for the following reasons: About a year ago McGovern was pronounced "all in." Prior to that time he lost the cham-plonship and took two bad beatings, beat-ings from which a fighter seidom if ever recovers. keep the pace going and live under pun-ishment like the durable one can. Then, when has a defeated champion regained the title? That does not sound like a reason, but it is a singular fact that a champion once defeated never climbs back to the topmost pinnacle. — Another thing: In the rules that govern the fight there is a chance that is certainly to Neison's liking. It is that which says the referee shall not place his hands on the fighters. This means that when the boys get agoing they will be permitted to keep it up and will not be interfered with unles they do too much clinching and then they will be ordered to break. When it comes to punching we entertain the belief that Neison is equal to Mc-Govern. The latter's style of milling is to Nelson's liking. He is a mixer and a rusher and that is exactly what the Dane glories in. He likes to catch 'em coming and going. He has never taken a back-ward step in his life during a fight. He may be knocked down a half a dozen times but he gets up toward his man al-ways. — These are some reasons why Nelson 10 425 125

These are some reasons why Nelson looks like a winner. Of course all these calculations may be rudely upset by the Brooklyn terror, but we doubt it. If the thing goes the limit, the spectators will have to pick the winner as no decisions are given in Philadelphia. The prospects are good for a knockout. If there is one McGovern and not Bat is likely to be on the receiving end. It has been suggested that McGovern keep sway from Nelson. The suggestion may be a good one, but it is one that can not be followed for two reasons viz.: McGovern couldn't keep away, and even if he wanted to Nelson won't let him. The Dane will be on the spectators of a couple of buzz saws in action. If they avoid clinching; if each man nights on the square: if they toe the serutch without fear, and show no quar-ter, the fight is sure to be of the whirt-wind order and will be about the most terrific fistic encounter ever seen in Quakertown.
