Another Fleed.

Winnered, 8.—The water in the Red and assinaboline rivers continues to rise, and a large area of the city and suburbs are submerged. Hundreds of families are enduring hardships from being so long forced to live in the upper portions of dwellings. Many have taken to tents. The Grisland saw milit are all idle, and the lumber is protected by booms. The losses, though not fully known, must in the aggregate be serious. There is considerable anxiety in regard to the rallway iron bridge and the bridge over the Assinabolne. The water is nearly up to the roadway of both. The water is nearly up to the roadway of both. The water is new about two feet higher than the loe freshet two weeks ago. The swings of the bridge cannot be opened, and navigation, therefore, is impeded. The gas house is under water three feet, and the retorts and furnaces are submerged. Communication with St. Paul is kept up partly by rail and transfer bleamer at St. Vincent.
