RUSSIANS RETREAT BEFORE JAPANESE.

Were Driven From Position by Artillery Fire, Losing the Key to the Yalu.

STRUGGLE WAS VERY DESPERATE

Number of Men Engaged Not Known, But is Thought Not to be So Great as Reported.

ENTRENCHMENTS ON LIAO RIVER

Two Hundred of the Czar's Soldiers Are There, but Extent of Their Movement and Location Unknown.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—(4:36 p. m.)—At 2:30 this afternoon the Associated Press was informed that beyond the fact of the retreat of the Russians before the overwhelming superiority of the Japanese, on the Yalu river, no details have been received since the report of Gen. Sasulitch, commander of the Second Siberian army corps, yesterday of the retreat from Kullen Cheng to Antung. It is quite possible that the loss on both sides in the week's fighting may reach the figures given by the Japanese as the Russians were not brought up to support the Russian position at Kullen Cheng, where the fighting was the heaviest. The Russians made a special effort to hold as long as possible the heights of Cho San, on an island opposite Kullen Cheng, whence their guns commanded a considerable stretch of the river to the south—but a Japanese battery on a hill above Wila dominated the position, which the Russians eventually were forced to relinquish, thus losing the key to the river. The desperate fighting, it is thought, there may have been due to the necessity for gaining time, for the withdrawal of the Russian detachments above and below. Gen. Sasulitch, on the Yalu which extended over a distance of 30 miles, with reserve support 15 miles back. The whole, according to the best information obtainable, did not exceed 17,000 men. What was the actual force engaged is not known at present, though probably it was not more than 10,000. No confirmation has yet been received of the reported capture of 28 Russian quick-firing guns or of the wounding of Gen. Sasulitch and Gen. Kashtilinsky.

SAVED RUSSIANS A SEA FIGHT.

Tokio, May 2 (noon).—Vice Admiral Kamimura, who is in command of the Japanese squadron which has been operating recently against Vladivostok, has sent in a report from Gensan, Korea, dated Sunday, in which he says that the impregnable fog twice forced the Vladivostok, and twice spared the Russian squadron a sea fight. While Kamimura was steaming north the first time he sighted the Russian squadron, which resulted in the sinking of the Japanese merchant steamer Goyo Maru and the transport Kinshu Maru. The Japanese

ANGUS M. CANNON JR.'S TESTIMONY.

Told Senate Committee on Elections That Statement He Made About Being on a Boat on Sea Near Los Angeles and Seeing Pres. Jos. F. Smith Marry Lillian Hamlin to Abraham H. Cannon Was Not True, but Was First Told as a Joke.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Angus M. Cannon, Jr., appeared before the committee on privilege and elections today and exploded about $200 worth of "hot-air." That is what he himself described his testimony to be.

Cannon arrived on the B. & O. early in the morning, but it was nearly 1 o'clock before the sub-committee got together to examine him.

The only senators present were Burrows, Dubois and McComas. Senator Smoot sat in his usual place and Mr. Richards and Mr. Worthington sat near him. Mr. Taylor acted the part of examining attorney again, and he showed as much disgust as the members of the committee when it was discovered through a remark of Cannon that the committee has been kept here and attorneys brought from long distances just to hear him tell of his beliefs. It came out that a week ago last Tuesday Cannon told Critchlow and Wilson that he knew that President Smith married Lillian Hamlin to Abraham H. Cannon in a state room of a boat on the high seas between Los Angeles and Catalina Island in '95.

He told them that he was present, and that he had witnessed the ceremony. Later he went to the Tribune office and told Perry Heath the same thing. Today he swore that he was not in California at any time during '95; that he was not present when the alleged ceremony was performed, and that he knew nothing about it except that he believed the marriage had been performed by President Smith. Senators Burrows and McComas fired a battery of questions at Cannon which brought out the statement that after he had been subpoenaed he had tried to get his brother-in-law Lynch to go to Critchlow and attempt to have the document withdrawn because the story was "all hot air," and that he had no information whatever except hearsay.

His only excuse was that he had been drinking, and that he told the story for a joke and to please Wilson and Critchlow. Cannon will probably draw about $200 as witness fees and traveling expenses, but that is only a small part of the cost of his pipe dream. It is within bounds to say that the total cost to all concerned will aggregate $1,000 dollars, to say nothing of the inconvenience created just to hear a man from Utah swear that he was joking without reason during a spree and had not sense to correct his misstatements when he discovered that his words had been taken seriously.

Utah Exhibits Are Well in Order, While There is a General Condition of "Unpreparedness" Over the Exposition Grounds—People of This State Are Advised to Defer Their Visit for Two or Three Months.

(Special to the "News.")

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—When President Roosevelt pressed the golden button that set in motion the World's Greatest Fair, and hitherto motionless mechanism sprang into life with a metallic din that made the earth tremble, the Utah contingent were enjoying themselves on the north veranda of the Utah building, shaded from a southern sun and out of the hostile and perspiration of the madding crowd.

The Utah building is not large enough nor has it been designed for entertaining, but it is a convenient and restful rendezvous for worn and weary Utah people who want peace and comfort without luxury and information without price. The Utah commission advises that Utah people defer their visits for two or three months, and instead wait until fall, for two reasons. It will be at least six weeks before the main exposition will be completed and then the heat will in all probability be very trying upon people from higher altitudes.

Before coming at all it would be better to correspond with Mr. S. T. Whitaker, care Utah building, who will give them all necessary information relative to the hotels, the best way to get from the city to the fair grounds, how to reach the Utah building and other pertinent directions of interest and value. Such correspondence should occur at least two weeks before they contemplate leaving home and this applies to individuals, companies, lodges, choirs or musical organizations.

It is a fact that the Utah exhibits are better prepared than any others. On the opening day General Director Whitaker notified the chiefs of the mining and agriculture departments that Utah was ready for inspection by the jury. Your correspondent endeavored to ascertain if any other state did this and was told Maryland, with Utah, alone gave similar notice as to her mining exhibit.

The striking features of the Utah exhibits are the marvelous variety of minerals all systematically and intelligently labeled, great blocks of coal, building stone, sulphur, salt, onyx, the unique concentrating plant (which will feed itself), and the exposition company is able to furnish power, which Dr. Holmes, chief of mining, thinks will be the hit of the Mines building.

In agriculture we are rich in grains and grasses, growing alfalfa, feeds of every variety, potatoes, sugar beets, sugar, silk in the cocoon and reeled, and a great cyclorama and very attractive feature called an irrigated Utah valley which will be sure to draw the crowds.

The Utah commission, with certain suggested changes and additions, already ordered, is quite well satisfied with Utah's participation in the world's fair and is already snuffing prizes from afar. Gov. Wells thinks there will be no need for further employees at present as the general unpreparedness of the fair will deter people from visiting it in any very large numbers for two or three months. Following is the list of Utah people who registered at the Utah building on the opening day:

Gov. H. M. Wells and Mrs. Wells, Hon. Joseph Howells and Mrs. Wells, Hon. L. W. Shurtliff, Hon. Willis Johnson, S. T. Whitaker, Lewis T. Cannon, James G. Duffin, Albert E. Stratford, Morris H. Jones, Alice Crismon, Inez Thomas, B. A. Perkins, L. A. William Rich, Mrs. G. A. Ashley, Wm. Thomas, Mrs. G. R. Thatcher, H. E. Robinson, Prof. Horace Cummings, Thomas Judd, John W. Shurtliff, Samuel Francis, Dr. J. B. Nelson, M. M. Browning, J. Ed. Pidecock, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Pratt, Mr. Whitmore, Mr. Borrell, M. M. Dugan, John Burns, Mrs. Cannon and two children, G. S. Holmes, Jr., Peter Grell, C. E. Johnson, George A. Langston, Mr. and Mrs. Brough, Harvey Hardy, Arthur Thompson.

Salt Laker Killed in Nevada by Dum Dum Ball

Deed Was Committed on April 25 and Body Was Brought to This City for Burial—Utah Attorneys Retained to Assist in Prosecution of the Slayer, Who is Chauncey Griswold, a Sheepman.

Utah lawyers, King, Burton & King, have been retained to assist in the prosecution of Chauncey Griswold, a sheepman of Nevada, on the charge of murdering William Norton near Jasper, Elko county, Nev., one week ago today.

The dead man was buried in Salt Lake on Saturday last, from Hall's undertaking establishment. He was formerly a resident of this city but strange to say, nothing concerning the tragedy has found its way into print until now.

There was a dispute of some sort between Norton and Griswold over the right to a certain spring. It ended in Griswold shooting Norton. The ball entered the groin, passed the heart, and hit the lungs. This ball was bent double and in that shape continued its course, severing a large artery, which resulted in death very quickly. After the tragedy, Griswold went into town and said to John Boudry, a brother-in-law of the dead man, "I had trouble with Norton and hurt him. I hurt him badly."

"How?" asked Boudry.

"By shooting him," was the reply.

GERMANY BREAKING LAWS OF NEUTRALITY.

Berlin, May 2.—Edward Bernstein a member of the reichstag, begins the publication today of a new Socialist weekly entitled Das Neue Montagsblatt, wherein he advocates the revision of the Socialist creed, to that it shall be less idealistic and more a program of practical reform. Here Bernstein prefaces his editorial with the following words:

"It is known to the German government that torpedo boats and destroyers for the Russian government are being built at one of the largest German shipyards." It is known to the government that in order to disguise this breach of neutrality the several parts of the vessels are exported as individual manufactures and put together in Libau, Russia? Is it known finally the building of these war vessels is so urgent that work proceeds from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m.?

Gold for Europe.

AN AIRSHIP VOYAGE.

Dr. Greth Makes One from San Francisco to San Jose.

San Francisco, May 2.—Dr. August Greth, accompanied by an assistant, started today in his airship on a trip to San Jose, 50 miles south of this city. The ascent was made from the grounds on Eleventh street near Market, where the aerial craft has been located for some time. After reaching an elevation of several hundred feet, Dr. Greth, the inventor, who is a German, caused the vessel to circle about and move in various directions, demonstrating that it was under his control. He then headed south, about directly against the wind, and started on a bee-line for San Jose, at which city he hoped to make a landing. The airship, obeying the force of its light motor, made good progress and was soon out of sight.

Fair progress was made by the aeronauts until the line between San Francisco and San Mateo counties was reached. The airship obeyed his helm, and though its speed was not great, it responded quickly to the will of its inventor. While passing over the town of Colma one of the valves of the engine became clogged and refused to work. This necessitated a descent, which was made without mishap. Although he did not reach his destination, Dr. Greth considers that his voyage, which lasted over an hour, has demonstrated the success of his device for aerial navigation.

MORE SMALLPOX.

Six Cases, Five in One Family, Reported to Board of Health Today.

Six cases of smallpox were reported to the board of health today, five of which are in one family. The other cases are William and Emma Archer, of 44 West Fourth North, and their three sons, Frank, Louis and Charles. All were placed under quarantine at their home.
