the parties were present and had their attorneys and were ready to answr the charges, but the council adjourned to take in the prize-fight. Eardley stated that he made an attempt to call the matter up that night, but Davis replied that he didn't try to call it up until af-ter they reached the prize ring. A point of order was raised that a substitute for the whole could not be amended. Daveler then scored a point by moving that the Thomas resolution be tabled. The motion was carried and of course the entire matter was tabled vith the substitute resolution. It was "ith the substitute resolution. It was taken from the table, however, in short order and Thomas finally agreed to Cottrell's amendment and the resolution was then passed.

Thomas' Resolution Helped Matters For Time Being-Will be Up Again Other Items Considered.

The council made a desperate effort last evening to place itself in the right light in the eyes of the public on, the matter of the revocation of the license of the saloonkeepers who were convicted of violating the Sunday closing ordinance. The majority was in favor of dodging the responsibility for not havdodging the responsibility for not hav-ing acted on the matter two weeks ago when the offenders were present and accompanied by attorneys to defend them, but instead of making an investi-gation at that time an adjournment was taken to attend the prizefight. After a wrangle of over an hour the 'rouble was finally settled by passing Thomas' resolution providing that, as the license of R. B. Moore and Brown-ing & Dahlstead, two of the offending firms, had already expired, and that of A. B. Margetts, the third offender, would expire in two weeks, no new IIwould expire in two weeks, no new li-cense should be issued to those parties until the council was satisfied that they would obey the Sunday liquor ordinance would obey the Sunday liquor ordinance and until consent is given by the coun-cli for the issuance of the same. Eardley brought the matter up after all the other business of the council had been attended to, by moving that the three offenders named above and the Wagener Brewing company, which holds the license for the first two par-ties, be cited to appear next Monday night to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. Thomas raised the point that two of the licenses had already expired and he didn't think the council would place itself in the ridicu-lous position of revoking licenses that the license of the Wagener Brewing company for the saloons of R. B. Moore and Browning & Dahlstead had expired on Aug. 26, and that of A. B. Margetts would expire in two weeks. Daveler would expire in two weeks. Daveler then moved that the whole matter be tabled. His motion was lost by a vote contraction of the stated that the Wage-ner Brewing company had refused to stand for the renewal of the licenses of B B before the stated that the the stated to stand for the renewal of the licenses of R. P. Moore, one of its lessees who was found guilty of violating the Sun-day liquor ordinance. The application of George Dahlstead, another offender, he said, was in the hands of Chief Paul who refused to approve the grant-ing of a new license to him, so the committee would not renew that li-cense.

committee would not renew that it-cense. Daveler, in opposition to Eardley's motion, said that he did not believe this council would place itself in the ridiculous light of sitting as a court, and give those saloonkeepers and tell the council to go to. President Cot-trell took the floor and stated that the members of he council were elected on a platform pledging that gambling and sunday iquor selling should cease, and the thought it was time some action were taken in this matter. He also visited that if the license committee had renewed the licenses of those men, the should be censured. The latter re-mark brought Hwiett to the floor with the statement that he had signed no il-cense in favor of those parties. Tud-tense in favor of those parties. Tud-tense in favor of those parties are mittee, made a similar statement. At this point Thomas submitted as a mostitude for the whole a resolution which recited that inasmuch as the council had failed to carry out its in-tention to revoke the license of the of-inding saloonkeepers and, as two of their licenses had already expired and the third would expire in two weeks, that their licenses should not be re-

The occasion was in the na-ture of a farewell gathering, as the guest of honor leaves shortly for his new home in Williamsburg, Pa. The room was decorated with a profusion of flowers and vines, and an entertain-ing program was given by Misses El-mer Albritton, Dramer and the Schet-tler orchestra. A fine address of fare-well was made by P. A. Dix, and the departing pastor responded with feel-ing and eloquefice. Following these Dr. Lellich made a short address upon the nature and purpose of Methodism, and the evening closed with warm hand-shakes and expressions of regret for the parting. the parting.
