

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, FEB. 11.

Apostle Taylor's House Raided.—This afternoon, after the raiding of the Temple Block, the home of Apostle John W. Taylor was visited and searched by deputy marshals. The raiders came away empty-handed.

Plate Castings.—Brother Leo Whitehead, of Provo, who is in the foundry business in that town, left for the East to-day via the D. & R. G. The object of his trip is to perfect himself in the manufacture of light plate castings, such as stoves, etc. He will also purchase some machinery for the purpose. On his return he will go fully into the business.

Ten Days Without Food.—Two steers belonging to brother George A. Eldredge, of Meadowville, Rich County, suddenly vanished from human gaze. Their owner vainly hunted and inquired, for the space of ten days, for the animals, and finally found them under a huge snowbank in his corral. Though involuntarily deprived of meat and drink for such a length of time, the poor brutes have a good prospect of "pulling through."

W. U. Type Writer.—We learn from an exchange that on Tuesday night the Western Union manager in Chicago formally adopted typewriter copy for the delivery to the newspaper offices of the Associated Press dispatches. Instead of the generally obscure manifold copy, the change is said to be a perfect success and greatly expedites work on a daily paper. The Western Union will soon extend the typewriter system to other cities, the presumption being that it will reach Salt Lake soon.

United.—It affords the News pleasure to announce the fact that Brother Arthur H. Park, son of Brother and Sister Hamilton G. Park, and Miss Emma C. Mulbank, of Tooele, have joined their destinies together in the holy bonds of matrimony. This evening, at 8 o'clock, a reception will be held at the residence of the parents of the bridegroom, in the Thirteenth Ward. Congratulations and good wishes will be then in order, and as they are not out of place now, we tender ours, to the effect that we desire that the young couple may enjoy happiness, prosperity and long life.

Deputies in the Northwest.—A Malad City, Idaho, correspondent writes under date of February 8th:

"About daybreak this morning Deputy Marshal L. M. Hopson, with three assistants, arrested Josiah Richardson, for illegal cohabitation with his wives, at his ranch, about six miles north of Malad City, and brought him here, where he was placed under $2,000 bonds, to appear at Blackfoot at the spring term of court. Henry Peck and John W. Lusk, Sen., were his bondsmen. They also made a search during the day at the ranch of Henry Denings, about six miles northwest of Malad, but failed to find that gentleman at home."

Still At It.—Jack Dempsey, the famous puglist, who gave an exhibition in this city some two months ago, and who, having married, announced his retirement from the ring, is at it again. On the 2nd, he and Jack Langdon, of Philadelphia, fought four rounds at the Theatre Comique in that city, in the presence of 3,000 persons. The affair was most exciting and Dempsey maintained his great reputation. He had his antagonist knocked out in the first round, but time was called and Langdon was saved. In the second, third and fourth rounds Dempsey pounded Langdon all around the stage. Langdon was very weak but very game, and although groggy was on his feet when time was called. Dempsey was declared the winner. He called at this office while here and seemed quite a retiring, genteel sort of person, but it would be as well if he did something else.

More Complete Organization.—Recently Bishop Allen, of the Twenty-first Ward, effected a more complete organization of the Lesser Priesthood within his supervision. Thirty-seven Priests were ordained, which, together with those who already held the office, constituted a full quorum of that order in the Ward. There is also a full quorum of Teachers and two of Deacons. Those organizations are mostly composed of young men, and the Bishop defined it to be one of their principal obligations to become familiar with the first principles of the Gospel and acquire the ability to explain them in a public or private capacity. For the attainment of this laudable object no less than six classes were organized, on the Preceptor plan. The following brethren were selected for instructions: Robert Aveson, Joseph W. Maynes, J. Arbuckle, Thomas Moss, W. G. Westwood and Jas. Maxwell.

Telegraph Operator Killed.—The Cheyenne Tribune of Feb. 9th, has the following:

"A singular accident with fatal results occurred this morning, by which Thomas McVeagh was instantly killed and two others seriously, if not fatally injured. The accident occurred on the Cheyenne & Northern, about a mile from Silver Crown. A crew of six telegraph line constructors left the station in the direction of Cheyenne at 7 o'clock for the purpose of putting in every-other-pole omitted in the temporary construction of the telegraph line. They had two hand cars which were laden with wire, crowbars and other necessary implements for the proper prosecution of their work. Upon the front car were Thomas McVeagh, Thomas Burgess and Swan Holchrest. The car following them carried James Stewart, Peter Oleson and a telegraph operator named Brock. McVeagh was standing near the front end of the car when it jumped the track and was thrown backwards, when the next car crashed into what was already a wreck. He fell between the two cars and was being frightfully mangled. Thomas Burgess was on the side of the car and was also thrown between the cars and was terribly lacerated, inflicting fatal wounds. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and has remained in that state until the present writing (4 p. m.). It was the intention of the railroad authorities to take him to Denver for treatment, but this was finally concluded to be injudicious and he was taken to the county hospital. James Stewart was injured internally and was also seriously cut and bruised on the head and face. His case is not necessarily fatal, but the chances for recovery or death are pretty evenly balanced. He was suffering intensely as he was placed in a sleeper, preparatory to being taken to Denver. Swan Holchrest had his collar bone broken, and was otherwise quite seriously hurt and may have received internal injuries, as he was complaining of severe pains in the region of the stomach upon his arrival in the city. The other two men escaped with slight bruises, either jumping or being thrown clear of the track and debris."

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

A STILL HUNT.

LIKEWISE A FRUITLESS ONE.

A Swarm of Deputies Headed by their Chief, Search the "News" Office and Other Places.

THEY GO AS THEY CAME, EMPTY HANDED.

Early this morning another search was instituted for Presidents John Taylor and George Q. Cannon and others. About 3 o'clock this morning five of the penitentiary guards were called into the city by Marshal Dyer, who had assembled his deputies and a number of others preparatory to a raid, which they hoped would be rewarded with success. A couple of hours later the force was extended like a line of skirmishers along First South Street, and it was soon observed that the

CHURCH BUILDINGS

were to receive a visit. The posse comitatus—if the force can be thus designated—consisted of Marshal Dyer, Deputies Greenman, Vandercok, Pratt, Cannon, Sprague, Gleason, Agramonte and Parker, Guards Curtis, Jenny, Doyle and two others from the penitentiary, Detective Franks and two or three of his men, S. H. Gilson, Jr., Geo. Showell, H. L. Glenn, — Showell, Glenn, S. H. Gilson and four or five of his men and others whose names were unknown. The block on which the General Tithing Office is located, was surrounded by guards being placed so as to shut off every avenue of escape for any one who might be within. About 6 o'clock the Historian's Office was called at, and every nook and corner was carefully investigated. Of course no one was wanted there and after having satisfied themselves of this, the searchers turned their attention to the ## GARDEN HOUSE.

The inmates were aroused by a loud knocking at the door, which was opened, and the Marshal was requested to wait a few moments for the convenience of those who had not arisen. This he did, and when he and his aids entered the house shortly after, a most thorough search was made.

The proceedings seemed to be mainly under the direction of S. H. Gilson. Every room in the house, from the basement to the roof, was closely inspected, floors were measured and walls and doors were sounded, as though an entrance to some subterranean passage or underground retreat might lie open at the magic touch of the visitors. Closets, cupboards, corners, wardrobes, etc., were all examined by the light of the candles, of which one each had been furnished by the inmates to the Marshal and his aids. When the business of the visitors was concluded they were

INVITED TO BREAKFAST

by the lady of the house, but the Marshal politely declined to accept.

While the place was undergoing inspection, Gilson was very sanguine in his expectation of finding Presidents Taylor and Cannon, and after the rooms had all been visited, paid particular attention to the basement floor, but no cellars or recesses beneath afforded any gratification. The posse then retired to continue their work elsewhere. The with all the surrounding buildings, including granary, barns, etc., were subjected to a similar scrutiny, and with similar results. Flour bins, and hay, lofts were found to contain only what properly belonged there.

About the third hour of the proceedings the DESERET NEWS office was visited, and a head of inspection made through all the departments. The next place was the store, flour room, vegetable cellar, meat market, granary, emigrant house, barn, haystacks, stable, pump house, corncrib, etc., coming in for a share. The searching party had by this time come to the conclusion that it was a fruitless hunt. Gilson exclaimed several times "We've got them," but the crowd of people who had assembled took no notice of the attempt to create excitement further than to laugh at it.

GENERAL TITHING OFFICE,

Finally, at about 10 a. m., the Marshal withdrew his force. A short time after, however, he returned with a portion of his men and went to the

TEMPLE BLOCK,

which received careful consideration. The Assembly Hall was opened, and from the cellar, where the furnaces for heating the building are located; to the top of the interior of the central spire, not a place large enough for a cat to crawl into was missed. After the searchers emerged from the building they took a good look at the Tabernacle, but made no request to enter. As they passed around to the north side it was evident that the chief object of the second visit was to go through the

ENDOWMENT HOUSE.

When they came near it the Marshal said, "That is the building we want to look into." The keys were sent for, and with a request that they clean their feet and that one of the deputies who had a cigar leave it outside, they were conducted through the house, all of the rooms of which were examined to the satisfaction of the Marshal.

This being completed, the Marshal and his men slowly wended their way out of the block, after making some inquiries as to when the Temple would be completed, etc. They then divided into pairs and started out in various directions.

The time occupied in the raid was about seven hours, and quite a number of people congregated out of curiosity to witness the proceedings. No disturbance or anything of an unpleasant nature occurred, everything being conducted in a quiet and orderly manner. That no one who was wanted had been found seemed to be a cause of considerable chagrin among a portion of those engaged in the search, but whatever the feelings of the Marshal and his chief deputies were, nothing was said by them indicating any ill-feeling in the matter.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, FEB. 12.

Officers Elected.—At a meeting of directors of the Co-operative Wagon and Machine Company, held at the company's office yesterday afternoon, H. J. Grant was elected president, J. E. Grant vice president and manager, George T. Odell treasurer and assistant manager, and Rulon S. Wells secretary. It was decided to increase the paid-up capital from $116,000 to $150,000. The company have done a fine business during the past few years, and parties desiring to invest should make immediate application to the board of directors.

Called.—Brother Royal B. Young, just emerged from the Penitentiary, where he has been serving two terms for unlawful cohabitation, made us a friendly call yesterday afternoon. He is looking and feeling as well as a man can under such circumstances, but declares that the open air, the unrestricted sunlight and the right to come and go at will, are preferable to the smallest amount of incarceration.

We are pleased to greet Bro. Young again and congratulate him upon his return to family and friends.

An Interesting Book.—The Juvenile Instructor office has just issued a very interesting book of about 100 pages (the thirteenth of the Faith Promoting Series). It is entitled "Eventful Narratives," and is appropriately named. The opening portion of the work is a biographical sketch, giving a description of incidents in the experience of Robert Aveson. This is followed by "A Trip to Carson Valley," a narrative full of pathetic incidents, with streaks of humor interwoven. It is an excellent addition to a valuable series.

Law.—Judge Sutherland lectured at the University this morning on "The Common Law." He sketched its origin, growth, evidences and authority with ease and accuracy. He demonstrated that common law is common justice, and that its origin was not in a legislative enactment, nor in its authority derived from that source. He concluded with two maxims of the common law, that "Reason is the soul of the law, and that when reason ceases, the law should cease;" and that "To adhere to precedent and not to unsettled things," is in general a guide in legal procedure.

The lecture occupied one hour; it will be continued next Saturday, commencing at 10:15 a. m.

Sudden Illness.—We are unable to present our usual contribution from "Mac" to-day. This is a matter of regret for two reasons, the value of the papers and the cause of the omission. Brother McAllister has been seriously ill for nearly a week. The cause of his indisposition was overwork, producing too great a strain upon his mind, and his being seized with a severe congestive chill while on his way home one night during the recent blustery weather. The result was severe pains in the head, and physical prostration. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he was feeling considerably better to-day.

Attempted Outrage.—Another villainous attempt was reported from Sandy last evening. After dark Mr. John Williams of that place sent his daughter a short distance on an errand. As she did not return as quickly as she should have done, Mr. Williams and his wife started out to meet the child. When they had gone a short distance they heard some one cry out, and Mr. Williams rushed forward to find his daughter in the arms of a burly ruffian who had made an assault upon her. The sudden appearance of the father rescued the daughter from her awful position and prevented the commission of the crime. Mr. Williams grappled with the brutal fellow, but he succeeded in tearing loose and getting away. Search has been instituted for him.

Dropped Dead.—About half-past five this morning Wm. H. Bruckner was walking along the sidewalk in front of the Post Office, when some parties near by heard him exclaim, "Oh, my heart!" and on turning towards him they saw him stagger and fall to the ground. He was picked up immediately, but his heart had ceased to beat. He was afterward taken to Sexton Joseph E. Taylor's office, the coroner notified, and the inquest set for 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The deceased was a native of Gotha, Germany, and was about 50 years of age. He came here from Nevada several years ago. He was an expert chemist, and obtained good employment among owners of silver mines. He was also the inventor of a revolving furnace and other improvements for use in mines. Quite a number of papers were left in his room.

From Arizona.—We had a pleasant call this morning from Brother James F. Johnson, of Tempe, Arizona, who has just reached this city via San Francisco. He left Tempe on the evening of the 7th inst. and reports everything moving along prosperously in that locality. The fruit trees were out in bloom and the face of nature green with the wealth of growing grain. The people have had an exceptionally healthy period for the past eighteen months. But two persons have recently died; one was Alvin F. Stewart, about twenty-one years of age, of typhoid fever and George Steel of old age.

The Southern Pacific Railroad is running a branch line to Phoenix, via Tempe. They are now working on the grade and hauling in bridge timber and iron at Maricopa on that line, from which place it is twenty-six miles to Tempe. They contemplate completing the road to Phoenix, nine miles west of Tempe, inside of two months.

The people of Tempe are industriously at work planting and improving, and among other things are devoting considerable attention to the raising of semi-tropical fruits, such as oranges, lemons and limes. There are at the present time about 1,200 people in the settlement.

Fight With Navajos.—Advices from Albuquerque, New Mexico, under date of February 9th, say:

"Intelligence reached here to-day of a bloody fight on Monday between a Sheriff's posse and a band of Navajo Indians, that will probably lead to an Indian outbreak. George Lockhart, Deputy Sheriff of Navajo Springs, accompanied by Edward Palmer and Tom King, started Monday morning for the Navajo reservation to arrest an Indian for horse stealing. They found him in the most thickly settled portion of the reservation, surrounded by a large party of his own tribe. The Indian resisted arrest and Lockhart shot, killing him instantly, whereupon the other Indians opened fire on the three men, and a general battle took place. Lockhart, Palmer and King were killed and left lying where they fell. The sheriff's posse killed two Indians and wounded two others, but the odds were too great against them. The Indians then rode off to Bennett's store, near Manuelito station, on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, and stole all the provisions they could carry off. The excitement is high, and the people living around the reservation say they will have ten Indians for every white man killed."

Our Regular Visitor.—With its accustomed promptness and filled with its usual quota of interesting and instructive reading matter comes to us the Juvenile Instructor for February 15th. The contents are as follows:

The Geyers, (Illustrated); Topics of the Times, by the Editor; I Owe no Man a Dollar; For our Little Folks—The Boys and the Toad—The Young Sheep-owner—Questions of Church History—Conundrums, etc.; A Sacred History, by Thos. A. Shreeve; A Visit to David Whitmer, by E. Stevenson; Editorial Thoughts; Introduction of the Gospel to the Maories, by W. M. Bromley; Peculiarities of the Burmese, (Illustrated), by E. F. P.; An Odd Trade; A Mighty Telescope, by Newaygo; The Resurrection, by Thos. W. Brookbank; Heroic Youth, by Kenyon; The Manufacture of Gold Leaf; Two Workers, Works by J. H. Ward; Music, Selected: Do it Well, by J. C. With this number commences a series of articles on the Book of Mormon by Elder Thos. A. Shreeve, who has made the external and internal evidences of the divinity of this sacred record a study of many years, and has collected numerous valuable and as yet unpublished items which refute all arguments heretofore advanced against this book. These articles promise to be one of the many precious contributions to this ever popular magazine.

Reservations for Sale.—The abandoned military reservations which were turned over by act of Congress June 3, 1884, are to be platted, appraised and offered for sale. The following reservations, aggregating about 700,000 acres, will be opened up:

Arizona—Camp Goodwin, Camp Crittenden, Old Camp Grant, timber reservation, Fort Verde and Fort Whipple.

California—Part of Fort Bidwell, Fort Cady, Fort Independence and Fort Yuma.

Colorado—Cantonment on Uncompahgre, Camp on White River, Fort Sedgewick, Fort Lyon and Old Fort Lewis.

Dakota—Fort Randall, (that part east of the river) and Fort Rio.

Idaho—Camp Tree Forks, Owyhee and Winter Pasturage (Fort Coul d'Alene).

Kansas—Fort Dodge and Fort Wallace.

Louisiana—Ten Reservations.

Michigan—Fort Wilkins.

Missouri—An island in the Missouri river.

Montana—Fort Ellis.

Nebraska—Fort Hartsuff, Fort McPherson and Camp Sheridan.

New Mexico—Fort Butler and Fort Craig.

Nevada—Fort Halleck and Fort McDermitt (bay reserve).

Utah—Fort Cameron, Fort Crittenden, Fort Thornburg and Rush Lake Valley reservation.

Washington—Fort Steilacoom.

Wyoming—Coal reservation, Fort Bridger, Fort Fetterman, Fort Sanders and Fort Fred Steel (except cemetery lot).

Court Notes.—Proceedings in the Third District Court to-day:

M. M. Schwartz vs. F. H. Dyer, motion for leave to file supplemental complaint overruled and amendment disallowed; supplemental complaint stricken out.

James Thomson vs. Jeannette C. Thomson; decree of divorce granted.

F. C. Thurston et al. vs. Herman Hill et al.; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

C. P. R. R. Company vs. S. S. Walker et al.; demurrer withdrawn.

M. B. Buford et al. vs. Simon J. Loneragan et al.; demurrer withdrawn.

John A. Groesbeck vs. George A. Meears; demurrer to amended complaint and motion to strike out argued and submitted.

J. W. Enright et al. vs. Richard Grant et al.; motion to vacate decree and open case argued and submitted.

John J. Spencer of Davis County, and a native of England, was admitted to citizenship.

Crescent Mining Company vs. Wasatch Mining Company; demurrer overruled and injunction sustained; 10 days allowed to answer.

In the cases of John A. Boyle et al. and Edwin Stratford et al. vs. Jonas Cohn, defendant was given until March 1st to answer.

Leave to file complaint in intervention was granted in the case of Albin man vs. Bock.

John Therman vs. Presley Talbot; demurrer confessed and 10 days allowed to answer.

A. C. Bixen vs. Southern Pacific Railway; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

Edward Austin vs. Tribune Publishing Company; motion to strike out part of answer argued and submitted.

A MURDEROUS DEPUTY.

HE MAKES ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO SHOOT A "MORMON."

Deputy Marshal Whetstone, in trying to arrest James Hansen, near Brigham City, Box Elder County, shot at him three times. Mr. Hansen was ditching when Whetstone approached, but not liking the looks of the stranger, jumped on a horse standing by, and started off. Whetstone called a halt and shot, he claims, to frighten the fleeing man, wanted for unlawful cohabitation. Whetstone says the second shot was fired at the horse, and the third at the man. Mr. Hansen escaped into the hills.

Mr. Hansen's son says the person Whetstone shot at was not his father at all, but a man he had hired to ditch.

THE COMMITTEE'S WORK

The Conference make several Changes and Substitutions.

SOME OF THE BAD FEATURES OMITTED.

Special to the DESERET NEWS.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11th.

The conference committee have agreed to report the Tucker bill, with the following changes:

Section nineteen of the Senate bill is adopted in lieu of Section nine of the House bill.

Sections eleven and thirteen of the House bill are stricken out.
