

TWO ARRESTS IN MURDER CASE

Philip Ziegler, Brother of Accused, and Matt Schoebert the Bartender, in Jail.

SHERIFF HUNTING FOR MAN.

Believed That the Criminal is in Hiding and the Austrians Know Where He Is.

Sheriff Emery and his deputies are hard at work trying to locate Marko Ziegler, the Austrian who stabbed and killed William Parro at Murray on last Friday night, but as yet their efforts have been unsuccessful. Yesterday they made a thorough search of all the Austrian quarters at Murray and today they have been searching the city of Salt Lake. Philip Ziegler, a brother of the murderer, was brought in from Bingham last night by Marshall A. Williams and was landed in the county jail. It is believed that he knows something of the whereabouts of the murderer as he has already made some very convincing statements in regard to the matter. At first he denied that he had a brother at all, but he had to contradict himself on that matter. He will be charged with being an accessory after the fact and will be given a preliminary hearing in the near future.

Matt Schoebert, the bartender at the saloon back of which the cutting occurred, and who was placed under arrest yesterday by Sheriff Emery, will be charged with being an accessory after the fact and will be arraigned before Justice Holm at Murray on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

ARRESTED AT PROVO.

W. H. Appleton Taken in Act of Bur-glarizing R. A. Barney's Store.

(Special to the "News.")
Provo, Aug. 16.—This morning about 4 o'clock W. H. Appleton, who came down from Salt Lake at 12 o'clock last night, was arrested in R. A. Barney's clothing store, which he had entered through the back window to commit a burglary. He was noticed by Night-watchman Wilken while trying out a pair of pants. Wilken secured the assistance of three other officers, two of whom went to the front door and two to the back door of the store, and just as Appleton had opened the back door in order to gain free egress with his plunder he was taken by the police to the county jail and will have a hearing tomorrow.

Appleton is 26 years of age, and claimed that burglary is not his profession, but from the supply of burglars' tools found on his person he is evidently not to be believed.

It was discovered this morning that Hyde's restaurant had been broken into during the night, and the goods were carried through a screen door at the back. About $2.50, a child's bank, some articles of clothing and a butcher knife were taken. Most of these articles were found on Appleton when he was searched at the jail. The butcher knife having been used by him in opening the window in Barney's store.

COURT NOTES.

A protest has been filed in the probate division of the district court by Sarah Green, daughter of Margaret Vandysbarker, deceased, and one of the heirs of the estate, against the sale of some cattle belonging to the estate being administered by the administrator, Israel Bennion. The protest says that the cattle cannot be sold without a great sacrifice in price and she claims that the other property belonging to the estate has been sold at a price far below its real value and she objects to a repetition of such action.

Suit for divorce was filed in the district court today by Paul Elbert against Barbara E. Elbert on the ground of desertion. They were married in Nebraska on Feb. 11, 1897, and it is alleged that defendant deserted her husband on Aug. 11, 1899.

SURPRISE THEIR FRIENDS

Popular Young Mining Man Captures Charming Girl for Bride.

Alex. Colbath and Miss Vida Richards gave their friends a complete surprise by being wedded at 10 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Richards, by Judge McCarty, and at 1:30 this afternoon the young couple took the short line train for the north, without confiding to even their most intimate associates their destination.

Mr. Colbath and his bride are among the most popular members of Salt Lake's younger set. He is superintendent of the Quincy mine at Alta, and the bride is well known in local society.

HUMIDITY RECORD.

Most Oppressive Weather Utah Has Ever Had—Interesting Comparisons.

Humid atmospheric conditions continue, but the local weather office states that as soon as the low barometric pressure passes off, and high pressure comes in from the coast, this condition will disappear. The marked change, as noted on the evening humidity record, began on the 13th inst., when the percentage jumped from 11 to 24; then to 31, while on the 12th inst. it was 37, and on the 14th inst. it was 48 per cent. The morning humidity record showed 34 per cent on the 13th inst., 35 on the 14th, and then dropped to 46 on the 15th inst.

The recent comparison in the "News" shows that this is far above the normal, and makes a record in the history of the local weather office. The weather, too, has been of the most oppressive character in the history of the bureau.

The temperature is cooler today, yesterday's being high all over the country and cooler weather still is promised for this state with thunder showers tonight and tomorrow. There was another precipitation at Modena yesterday.

EAGLES SOARED HIGH.

Made a Fine Showing on the Street Today Before Starting for Lagoon.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles made a very creditable showing this noon, in the street parade prior to taking the train for Lagoon. There were 185 men in line, in column of twos, exclusive of the band, and with Messrs. Elmer Hall, W. W. Hall and Hall as the mounted marshals of divisions. The Eagles were from Salt Lake, Bingham, Mercur and Ogden, the first being led by Hall's band, and the others by the Mercur and Ogden bands. The musicians did well, and provided excellent martial music. The Salt Lake Eagles were preceded by their uniformed rank in blue shirts with white caps and pants, and with their elegant silken banner, made a pretty showing. All of those in the procession wore white caps and dark pants and carried light canes decorated with red, white and blue ribbons, and the marshals wore large sashes of the same colors. The parade was through the principal business streets, and hundreds of people stopped to witness it.

PATENT FOR A PROVO MAN.

(Special to the "News.")
Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—A patent for a stove has been issued to Frank J. Pioch of Provo City, Utah.

ROMNEY REUNION.

Large Gathering in Twentieth Ward
Amusement Hall Last Night.

The reunion of the Romney family in the Twentieth ward Amusement hall last night was an affair long to be remembered. The interior of the hall was beautifully decorated, the stars and stripes predominating in the color scheme. Handsome rugs, tables and lounges were neatly and comfortably arranged for the convenience of those present, which, with the family, were nearly 200. Christensen's orchestra, discouraged enervating strains of music from the stage, and Franklin served an elaborate refreshment in an adjoining room. The banqueting tables were beautifully spread, and the scene was a most picturesque one here as well as in the hall proper.

There was a touching incident at the close of the banquet, when Bishop Romney presented his oldest and youngest child and referred to some of his experiences from the earliest days of Salt Lake City, when his first child, Barbara Romney Polson, was born on the southeast corner of the site of the Salt Lake Temple. The young wife and her new-born babe had only a wagon box for shelter and an inefficient covering to protect them from the elements.

Among those who spoke were President Vindler and Lulu Romney, the President, and President Young of the Ensign stake, all paying tribute to the life and deeds of Bishop Romney.

A poem, composed by Lulu Romney, was then read, and further remarks were made by Joseph S. Wells of the stake presidency, George T. Odell, John C. Cutler, Henry Dinwoodey, W. W. Hall, and others.

Ritter referred to an incident in the opening address, which was delivered by Heber Romney, the oldest son, who asked all of the children and grand-children to stand and be counted. They did so and numbered 110. That was a picture, the speaker said, he would have liked President Roosevelt to look upon. The reminiscence of the program was substantially as published in last evening's "News," and consisted mainly of excellently rendered musical numbers. Altogether, the affair is one long to be remembered. The probability is that it is but the first of many such.

SALT LAKE TO FRONT.

Record for Unloading Established on Boat Owned by Col. Holmes.

The new steamer Edwin F. Holmes, of the Bransford Transit company, has lately made a new record, by bringing from Duluth to Ashtabula, Ohio, a cargo of 8,084 tons of iron ore, which was unloaded in six hours and 55 minutes, which is at the rate of about 20 tons per minute. It is also a new record in unloading. This boat is owned by Col. F. M. Holmes, and is said to be a very satisfactory investment.

UTAH COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Precinct Primaries Will be Held Not Later Than Sept. 3—Other Business.

(Special to the "News.")
Provo, Aug. 16.—The meeting of the Democratic county committee was held here tonight for the purpose of discussing the county convention and other campaign matters. It was decided to elect delegates to the state convention to be held in Salt Lake Sept. 8, at precinct primaries to be held not later than Sept. 3. The apportionment is one delegate for every 70 votes cast for W. H. King for congressman in 1902. At the same primaries the same number of delegates will be elected to the Provo district convention, which will make a total of 44 delegates for the county in each convention. The date for holding the judicial convention has not been fixed. It will probably be held immediately after the state convention.

It was decided to hold the county convention in Provo, Sept. 5. Delegates will be elected at primaries to be held not later than Sept. 10, one for every 10 votes cast for W. H. King in 1902, making about 35 delegates.

Chairman King was authorized to appoint a committee to prepare a platform for the county convention, and W. R. McBride, and will name other members later.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The report that Millard county will send seven delegates to the state convention for Wells and two for Hammond is disputed today. The Cutler people received a telephone message from Fillmore this morning, which says that the facts are that the remaining four are for Hammond or Wells, possibly a day for each.

The day passed without any very important changes in the gubernatorial situation, which is, at this time, absorbing the attention of all politicians. At Wells headquarters it was positively stated that the governor will have at least 80 out of the 125 votes of Salt Lake county. The Cutler men, while they understand that the other candidates are going to cut a great figure, would not concede in this county more than 35 for each of them. Hammond's most intimate friends claimed the secretary would enter the convention with more votes from this county than either Cutler or Wells.

And as a matter of fact the question is no more settled than it was before any candidate announced himself.

Tomorrow night the Democrats of the Fifty-seventh district (Mill Creek) will meet to perfect an organization. A number of city politicians will go down to attend the meeting. Calder's park line.

Bert Varian, now of Weiser, Ida., is in town today. Unlike his father, C. S. Varian, Bert is a Republican, and he claims that the national ticket will carry the entire state ticket of Idaho for the Republicans this year.

State Chairman Frank J. Cannon is down from Ogden today on political business.

There is joy in the Wells camp over the announcement of George M. Cannon that he is for the governor and will work for him. Heretofore, Mr. Cannon has been claimed by all of the candidates for governor.

The Young Men's Republican club has invited W. E. Rorah of Idaho to be the principal speaker at the Saltair outing on Aug. 28. Senators Smoot and Kearns, Congressman Howell and George Sutherland will also address the crowd.

The county convention of Sanpete county to the state convention 28 men at Ephraim yesterday elected a delegate who are said to be for Cutler to a man. The legislative ticket is distinctly Sutherland, the nominees being Abraham Johnson, of Mt. Pleasant for the senate and N. C. Christensen of Sterling for the house. The Kearns forces are at a loss to understand their crushing defeat after their long, hard work in that county.

Friends of State Auditor Tungey, who is a candidate for secretary of state on the Republican ticket, say that his prospects are very good. They argue that he has made an able and conscientious official during the past four years and that he has been a most successful manager of the state's affairs. It is expected that Juab and southern Utah generally will give him hearty support.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Today's local bank clearings amounted to $421,195.37 as against $495,259.45 for the same day last year.

Articles of incorporation of the Gardena Land & Water company of this city were filed in the office of County Clerk James today. Its capital stock is $45,000, divided into shares of the par value of $1 each. Robert Forrester is president; B. R. McDonald, vice president; W. D. Foster, secretary, and treasurer. The company will conduct an irrigation system in Emery county, where it succeeds to the properties of the Independent Canal & Reservoir company.

Amusements

"Never in all my recollection as an actress have I seen a first night performance go with the smoothness that ours is going tonight. And I'll tell you why. The audience has been won by the promptness of the first lines. Back here behind the scenes—out there in front, the same spirit stalks until artist and audience think, and mind and body are in perfect unison. You know what that means. And Miss Barrymore's beautiful face wreathed with smiles at one of those captivating smiles that has placed her among the winsome women on the American stage."

Thus the fair actress spoke to the "News" article who had received a pressing invitation from Manager Meyers to visit her here in the dressing room between the acts last night. And what a bower of beauty that dressing room was, made so by admiring friends who had literally transformed it, during the absence of Miss Barrymore, into a beautiful veranda of roses and mirrors. The occasion was Miss Barrymore's twenty-fourth birthday. Naturally this expression of love and esteem affected her deeply, and she spoke of it most feelingly.

Reverting once more to the play, which certainly did go smoothly, she asked: "Isn't it pure and wholesome? I so love to speak its lines. There are so simple, so natural, so pretty. That little speech of Cousin Kate at the close of the first act, where she makes the plea for Wilfred, home and happiness, is so touching, so beautiful, it really makes me feel better for having uttered it, and you will pardon me if I say I sometimes think that the members of my sex in the audience are better for having heard it."

But all this is simply incidental to last night's performance of "Cousin Kate" with Miss Barrymore in the title role. The audience was probably the largest of the season, and the history of the Salt Lake Theater, and Managers Pyper and Meyers mutually felicitated with each other on the results. The house was sold out down to the last seat, and the evening was clear to the top. A pleasant surprise was the fact that the temperature was so tolerable—doubly pleasant in view of the further fact that the day had been most oppressive. Electric fans and open doors and windows were accountable for the condition.

Of the play itself, there is just this to say. It is a thoroughly delightful little comedy with love, romance and simplicity as its predominant features. There are most charmingly portrayed by the artists to whom they are entrusted, and the attending obstacles are invariably overcome to the satisfaction of everybody. As a mirth provoker, it is decidedly infectious. While Cousin Kate is the central figure, and while the indefiniteness of her replies affects the boundless amusement, the support has plenty to do. At first one is puzzled to know whether Bruce McRae as Heath Desmond the artist, is pleasing or not, and the perplexity continues for a considerable time. Then suddenly you are convinced that "there is something to him," and soon thereafter he establishes himself as an actor. Master Wilkes as Bobby Spencer, the school boy, is marked for an artist. The material is certainly there. Grant Stewart did the clericalism to a turn, and his preachy preachiness was refreshingly quaint. As to Fanny Addison Pitt, few widows look on the stage so better in real life than she does upon the stage. Beatrice Agnew was not so happily cast.

"Cousin Kate" will be seen in Salt Lake tonight for the last time. The curtain rises at 8:30.

THE MORRIS FUNERAL.

Impressive Services Held at the Family Residence—Tributes of Respect.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Albert C. Morris were held at the family residence, 41 Canyon road, yesterday afternoon, and so great was the press of relatives and friends of the deceased that it became necessary for a large number to remain on the lawns and grounds of the house and that adjoining. The services were in the hands of Bishop George H. Taylor of the Fourteenth ward. One of the features was the large collection of floral tributes that covered the casket and were distributed around the room.

The services were opened by a selection by the Fifteenth ward quartet, followed by a prayer offered by Elder Willard Done, Mrs. Lizzie Thomas Edwings, "I Know That My Redeemer liveth" in a touching manner, prior to the addresses which followed.

The first speaker was Elder Ben R. Eldredge, who was president of the London conference during a portion of the time when deceased was laboring in the mission field in Kent. The speaker dwelt at length upon the sterling qualities of Elder Morris as exhibited in the mission field and the good work accomplished by him. One striking thing that impressed the speaker was the great love the young man exhibited for his mother.

Elder Victor P. Wells, who was the next speaker, spoke along similar lines and gave instances of the powers manifested by deceased in the mission field. The speaker stated that he always entertained a great respect for the young man who made a splendid missionary.

Apostle Charles W. Penrose then followed. He dwelt principally upon Father and Son, and the love of the spirit of man which came from God. He affirmed that all would have to give account for deeds done in the flesh but the Almighty knew the fallings of man and He was a Being of infinite mercy as well as justice. The errors and follies of life would not blot out the good acts performed, he asserted, and God would not judge by errors committed alone. The deceased lived all his life to eternity before him in which to improve. Apostle Penrose then proceeded to show the necessity of being merciful in judgment toward our fellow men and asserted that there were some whose faults showed on the surface and who really were not as bad as some who otherwise had a good reputation and successfully concealed their shortcomings. He concluded his address by delivering words of comfort to the bereaved mother and members of the family. After the singing of "O My Father by the quiet and the benediction by Elder Joseph B. Morgan, the funeral cortege left for the city cemetery where the quartet once more sang, and where the grave was dedicated by Bishop George H. Taylor.

The specially designed transmitter to be used in the Tabernacle recital telephonic experiments, has been received from New York by the Bell office in this city, and arrangements are in progress with the Tabernacle authorities for its installation there. The instrument is some three times the size of the ordinary transmitter, and has a white pine diaphragm instead of a metallic one. The connecting wires are copper ribbons.

Herbert Auerbach, son of Samuel Auerbach, is in town from New York on a visit. Mr. Auerbach is one of a party of Columbia School of Mines seniors who have been spending the summer running a mine in Colorado, to familiarize themselves with practical mining operations. Quite a number of Columbia men are in town, including Prof. Bolles, the instructor in metallurgy, taking a short rest before extending their researches elsewhere, as part of the regular course of study.

E. B. Rice, the man arrested last night while trying to gain entrance to Ethel Barrymore's room at the theater, Manhattan, is in town this morning. After the prosecution closed its evidence, the defense asked for and obtained a continuance till Thursday in order to prepare its case. Rice, who was a decidedly hard looking specimen, was remanded to jail in the meantime, in default of $25 bail.

Colonel and Mrs. E. A. Wall had the misfortune yesterday, to lose their little daughter, Mattie, aged nine, from heart troubles. The child has been alling for the last six months, with weakness of the heart, and notwithstanding that the greatest care was exercised, the climax came early last evening, when she was seized with severe pains, and presently passed away. The funeral will be held from the residence, 309 East South Temple street, at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Lightning shortly after last midnight, knocked out the Logan and Bear River electric service. This is the first time since the Bear river service was opened last December that it has been affected to this extent. However, the Ogden-Salt Lake service was not curtailed, owing to the special auxiliary plants. The damage caused by Sunday night's storm has been repaired, and the Utah Light & Railway company has sent to Schenectady for two new transformers to be held in reserve at the Pioneer plant.

Brig.-Gen. J. Q. Cannon expressed to-day, his belief that the difficulty with the Black Hawk veterans over the encampment location would be settled without the guard being obliged to make any changes. The trouble was that the veterans claimed that the parties at once, and Gen. Cannon did not see why this could not be done. He said the veterans claimed they would have 6,000 people there, and that the resort would be too small, but the general thinks the veterans' committee have greatly overrated the prospective size of their camp, and that instead of 6,000, an actual number will be not over 600.
