

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Mrs. Sophia Christensen, aged 63 years, had her left leg broken in two places while in the act of stepping from a carriage stoop last night. Dr. Wright dressed the wounds and the unfortunate woman was removed to her home, near the corner of South Temple and First West streets.

The residence of Chas. Hardy in the Second ward was burglarized Wednesday evening. The burglar raised a window, reached through, and took Mr. Hardy's trousers from a chair near the bed. They were found about two blocks from the house this morning. Twenty-five cents had been taken from the pocket.

Elder George S. Barker on Saturday returned from the Southern states, where he labored as a missionary for the past twenty-two months. His time was spent in the West Virginia conference, over which he presided for a period of sixteen months. He reports having enjoyed good health during his absence, and that he has been quite successful in his labors.

The whereabouts of Robert Gray, from the parish of Pocatello, Haddingtonshire, Scotland, by his cousin, Thomas Cornwall, 515 Fig avenue, Santa Barbara, California. Brother Gray left Scotland for Utah over thirty years ago. If dead, will relatives please communicate with the above, and with B. H. Hollingworth, Camp's lane, Center ward, this city?

The Utah Beekeepers' association will hold its semi-annual meeting Thursday, April 4, 1895, at 10 a. m. in the fish commissioner's rooms in the new city and county building, Salt Lake City. It is desired, if possible, to have our beekeepers bring samples of labeled honey and wax. All are invited. GEORGE E. DUDLEY, Secretary, Provo.

After a gradual falling of health for over a year, Elder Soren Iversen departed this life on Thursday morning at 11:20 o'clock, at his residence in the Second ward of this city. About six weeks ago he sent for his son Heber, who was on a mission in Tennessee, to come home and arrange his affairs. The deceased was seventy years old and has resided in this city over forty years.

Meetings of the Stake officers of the Young Ladies' National Mutual Improvement association will be held at the residence of Counselor M. Y. Dougall, No. 49 N. West Temple street, Salt Lake City, on Saturday, April 6th, at 4:30 p. m., and Sunday, April 7th, at 7:30 p. m. It is earnestly desired that every Stake shall be represented at these meetings.

ELMINA S. TAYLOR, President.
ANN M. CANNON, Secretary.

Elder Don C. Rushton returned Wednesday from a mission to the Southern States, where he has been laboring for the past twenty-six months. He left this city January 7, 1893, and was assigned to the Middle Tennessee conference. Elder Rushton has enjoyed his labors very much and reports that conference to be in a prosperous condition. His health is good and has been during his absence.

BEAVER, Utah, March, 23, 1895.—Wm. J. Allred died here this morning at 7 o'clock, aged 68. He has been suffering intensely with a large cancer over his right eye for years. He was one of the first settlers of the Territory, and in Sanpete distinguished himself in the Indian wars from 1864 to 1868. He was marshal of this city for several years. He was a man of courage and integrity in the Gospel.

A serious accident is reported to have happened near Bingham Junction on Wednesday night. It appears that while Mr. and Mrs. Allsop were driving along the road about half a mile distant from the junction their horse stumbled over an unfenced cutting some six or seven feet in depth alongside the R. G. W. railroad and pitched the outfit over an embankment. Mrs. Allsop had one of her arms broken and sustained internal injury; her husband is said to have been pretty badly shaken up.

Charges have been made against Superintendent Haines of the Reform school which will be considered by the board. Seven specific charges are made—drunkenness vile and vulgar language, allowing criminal intimacy between the cook and one of the inmates, permitting card playing on the Sabbath among the inmates, ungentlemanly conduct toward the other officers of the school, allowing the inmates the use of liquor, offensive conduct in conducting the affairs of the school, and for being too indiscreet in the use of bad language in the presence of inmates are the specifications in detail.

Late Friday afternoon a young man entered the pawnshop of Adam Lapin, at 56 east, Second South street, for the purpose of disposing of or negotiating a loan on a 32-caliber pistol. He handed it to Mr. Lapin, who proceeded to examine it, and not dreaming of it being loaded, pulled the trigger. The weapon, which pointed directly toward the stranger, was discharged, and the latter fell to the floor. He arose but fell again, just as Officer Hilton arrived, and an investigation proved that the bullet from the revolver had penetrated his clothing until it struck a small carpenter's square and compass, which arrested its force and it glanced off through the man's clothes, lodging between his shirt and cuticle, without doing any damage.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rognon attended church Sunday evening, leaving their baby at home in the charge of Kitty Beveridge, who is employed as a nurse in the family. On returning they found the baby sleeping in its cot, but the girl had gone leaving the following note on the table:

Mrs. Rognon—Just as I was getting ready to rite to home, some one knocked at the front door, and I went to the door. Two men grabbed me, and they are standing over me now as I rite this. They are going to take me away; going to make me leave the baby, and it kills me. I do not know who they are. I will trust the baby in God.

"KITTY BEVERIDGE."

An investigation showed that Kittie's entire wardrobe had disappeared, and it is supposed that her departure was deliberate.

The dead body of an infant but a few days old was discovered by two men who were sowing grain in a field just south of Calder's park late Monday afternoon. Coroner Offenbach was notified and took charge of the body. It was clad in cheap baby clothes, and its head showed marks of violence, indicating that death was caused by being crushed between a persons hands.

William Carlson and Charles Alfred, the two workmen who made the discovery, had left a board on the field on Saturday, and having occasion to use it yesterday went to get it but it had disappeared. They followed the trace of it, however, and found it by a hedge fence, and beneath it lay a bundle bound with twine which proved to be a dead baby.

On reaching the place the coroner made a thorough search for something to give a clue to the perpetrators, but all efforts failed.

James Griffin, found guilty of burglary on Friday, appeared on Saturday for sentence. Judge King said it appeared that defendant had spent the last fifteen years of his life in the penitentiary; no sooner had he been released than he committed another crime. The court, however, had doubts as to the defendant's sanity. He could not see how a sane man would act in the manner defendant had. The court had also received a letter from Dr. Pike stating that the defendant had been in the asylum for a term, and that his health was now very poor. The court would take merciful view of the case and instead of imposing the maximum sentence, ten years, he would sentence defendant to two years and six months in the penitentiary. Griffin thanked the court for the leniency shown.

Saturday evening's issue of the Standard contained the following card, which is a complete withdrawal of the most infamous of the charges lately preferred against Supt. Haines of the Reform School—the charge in which the good name of a virtuous and respected young woman was foully assailed. The News, which briefly mentioned the various charges a few days since, and fell into the same error the Standard did, is now gratified to publish the withdrawal of the gravest of them:

Editor Standard—I regret to observe that by some mistake in publishing the charges against Supt. Haines, you made mention of a criminal intimacy being charged by me as existing between the cook and an inmate of the
