LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRICAL.—"Under the Gaslight," on Saturday evening, at the Theatre, was produced in first-class style a well-filled house. Miss Colebrook's appearance was greeted with rapturous applause and her playing through the piece was good. Messrs. Noble, McKenna, Margate, Graham, Malinowski, McDaniel and Miss G. Dawson, played excellently, as did the rest of the company.

On Wednesday night the great sensational national drama, "The Last Ship," will be presented with a strong cast.

SABRATH MEETINGS.—Yesterday morning the congregation was addressed by Bishop Maughan, of Canea, Germany, and afterwards by Elder Van G. Cannon. Bro. Maughan said: "I came to Salt Lake City to receive instructions and did not expect to see to give instructions in the future of this place. I can say that the people who live in the North country, from which I have just come, as a general thing, feel very well. I have never seen them so contented as they are this winter. They attend meetings more regularly and there is generally more cheerfulness than I have ever seen before. We have been afflicted for years with the grasshoppers; they have destroyed our crops but the people are not discouraged. My testimony, this morning, is that if we make a vigorous use according to the best of our ability, God certainly will prosper us. I have had an experience in this Church of between thirty and forty years, and I can say that if the Latter-day Saints fail in anything which they try to accomplish it will be their own fault; it will not be on the part of our Father. I can see in many things how we have come far short, but it is our fault. Coming down the other morning on the way a gentleman from San Francisco, looking around and beholding the improvements and settlements that this people had made, said they were entitled to great praise in every respect. He said he had never been to Salt Lake; but he was satisfied that there had been less bloodshed by the Indians here than in any State in the Union. What have we to do in order to preserve ourselves from the hands of wicked men? Why only to keep the commandments of our God and He will bring us out victors every time. I want to hear my brethren talk, and my prayer is that God may bless His people in these mountain towns and everywhere they are, in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen."

In the afternoon a most interesting discourse was delivered by Elder Orson Pratt, which was reported, and will probably appear in the News.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The following dispatch was received by Deseret Telegraph Line, this morning:

St. George, Jan. 21, 1871.
DESERET NEWS.—On Saturday morning the High Council was in session; in the afternoon there was a general meeting of the authorities. President Young and Elder E. Snow occupied the time in giving instructions. On Sunday morning the meeting was addressed by Elders Robert Gardner and Jacob Gates, in the afternoon by President Young, Bishop Levi Stewart, of Kanab, has been visiting here. They have erected a stone schoolhouse on the site of the late fort. Emigration in this direction is strengthening the settlements. Brother James A. Smith and other brethren are here from the western settlements, and say that all are prospering.

HEATH'S BANK NOTE DETECTOR.—Mr. Rooks, who, with Mr. Bell, is disposing of this work and giving instructions in relation to the detection of spurious bills, informs us that they have found considerable counterfeit money in the city. Not long since Marshal Patrick arrested a man whom he suspected as a passer of counterfeit money, but could not find any upon his person or obtain other evidence to establish his suspicions, and therefore had to discharge him. In the East, men who engage in this business are said to always take care to have no more than one bill about them at a time. They pursue the business in couples. When one enters a store his companion remains outside at a little distance off, but in sight. The man who attempts to pass the money carries the bill rolled up in the grasp of his little finger, so that if arrested he can easily throw it away. He looks some trifling article, and if the bill is taken, walks off with the change, and when outside of the store, makes some signal agreed upon with his confederate to inform him that he has been successful, and they meet and he obtains another bill from his partner and from the same "shop" over again. Should the storekeeper detect the counterfeit and reject the bill, he takes it back, sees he knows his gaffe is to him and pays for the article he purchases in good money. If a detective should arrest him, he contrives to throw away the counterfeit, and then being alone on his person, the chances are that he escapes. The plan generally adopted to catch these rascals is for the detective to follow them, until he gets a clue to the confederates who carry the spurious money, and then arrest them. Messrs. Rooks and Bell have been patronized by bankers, merchants and leading business men of the city, all of whom, we understand, are pleased with their work, the most doing a limited number require the same knowledge of counterfeit as the man who does business on an extensive scale, from the fact that they are equally liable to be imposed upon. A banker, or a merchant has a cashier whose experience in handling money makes it difficult for counterfeiters to impose upon him, even if he should not possess the rules which Heath's book imports for the detection of counterfeit. One feature about this book and system of detection is that if a merchant should change his clerk, the merchant still has the book to refer to to teach his new employee.

NOTICE.—At a local conference held in Cedar City, Jan. 15th, 1871, Philip Kilgus Smith was cut off from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for unchristian-like conduct.

TREATMENT OF ORMS.—Prospectus upon the treatment of Orms by Dry Crystalline and Compositum, in the shape of a 32 page pamphlet, which we have received. Its authors are E. M. Barnum and S. H. Jevette, and it is issued by the New York Printing Company, No. 23, and 25 Centre street.

THE NEW GOVERNOR OF UTAH.—Under the above head, the following estimate of the character of General Silas A. Strickland, the new nominee of President Grant, for the Governorship of Utah, appears in the Troy Press, of the 14th inst. Its writer, we believe, has been acquainted with General Strickland from boyhood:

"Troy, Jan. 14, 1870.

Editors Press:—I have known General Silas A. Strickland since he was a boy, of straight-out Democratic parentage; received his education at Yale Academy; read law with Hon. John C. Spencer, of New York; was removed to Omaha, then Nebraska Territory, was four or five times elected a Democratic member of the Legislature, and was its Speaker three times. He had of the first Nebraska regiment in the late rebellion was "Fighting" good fight, was promoted to less than a year's full Brigadier Generalship, fought and conquered in many hotly contested battles. The rebellion being over, he laid down his arms and said in earnest: "Let us have peace!"

Now, President Grant has appointed him Governor of Utah Territory, an appointment to be made by making a few more such, he may be able to throw the public mind and attention off the bloody outrage.

The General is from a sound Democratic parent stock, and from head to heels a square, upright and able man, with Democratic instincts and education.

COMPLEMENTARY.—The rendition of Louis XI, on the night of the 11th inst., by Mr. Cookson, of the Deseret Theatre, was so pleasing to the spectators that a complimentary benefit was tendered him, which comes off some time this week.
