

FOREIGN NOTES.

The first exclamation of an American belle on entering the cathedral at Milan was, "Oh, what a church to get married in!"

Lord Devonshire is pleased to announce that there is less foppishness in England than ever before.

Cholera is reported to have appeared in various districts in Germany, and considerable alarm is said to exist therefrom.

Hydrophobia is raging to an unparalleled extent in the northern counties of England, where many men as well as animals meet their death by it.

It is stated that last year's profits derived from several large collieries in the Sheffield, England, district exceed $500,000 each, while the rate for the last quarter is even greatly in excess of that amount.

Throughout Europe the interest in the coming Vienna Exposition is intense and widespread. Universally it is believed that it will be the most imposing and valuable of all the "world's fairs."

Mr. John Earl Clare, of Liverpool, has succeeded, it is said, in perfecting an engine to be worked by electro-magnetism, by which an up and down motion is obtained whence a power is developed that is applicable to our largest ships afloat, and also to stationary and locomotive use.

Mrs. H. Petherick, a centenarian and the oldest person in Bristol, England, is dead, and the newspapers are making quite a time over her remains. They haven't any George Washington to date her from, but she distinctly remembered the death of the great Earl of Chatham.

Delegates from Roumania have laid before a general conference of Israelites, now in session at Brussels, a statement of the condition of their people in the Principality. They propose to petition the Roumanian Chamber for full civil and political rights, and state that their intention of emigrating en masse to America has been abandoned.

A writer in an English periodical satirizes the American taste for gaudy, brilliant colors, as illustrated in the various fabrics intended for our market. It is alleged that good taste is sacrificed for gaudy colors, and that manufacturers could not venture to introduce designs used on American articles on cotton, shawls, carpets and other goods intended for the home trade.

A novel strike is now threatened in England, and one which will present some new questions in the science of labor. The English actors and actresses are combining for a strike, a special point of grievance being that they may be called upon "to do duty one week at one theatre, another week at another, to the exclusion of other actors who would under the old system have to be engaged."

At the recent Church of England congress at Leeds, Mr. E. B. Balme read a paper on preaching, in which he explained how it so frequently happened that sermons produced no effect at all upon the hearers. He suggested that written sermons should be limited to twenty minutes, and extempore to fifteen or ten minutes, the church warden to watch the clock, and the sexton to toll the knell of time expired.

The London correspondent of the New York World writes to that paper that Bradlaugh, the great English iconoclast, will visit this country in the early part of next year, and spend some three or four months here. He adds: "He will pretty certainly create a sensation among you; and many of your people, no doubt, will be glad to see and hear 'the coming Cromwell,' the first president of the second English republic."

The Manchester (Eng.) Examiner has the following from a correspondent at Blackburn, writing the 15th ult., "In consequence of the high price of coal and the unremunerative production of cotton cloth, added to the uncertainty of the new cotton crop, several large spinning and weaving mills in Blackburn have begun to run from 'light to dark' to save gas. The short time movement, it is expected, will become general. In the adjoining town of Great Harwood there are 1,400 looms standing idle; and here too, the prospects for the coming winter are anything but encouraging."

A correspondent who recently saw King Victor Emmanuel gives the following unpleasant picture of His Majesty—"His Majesty," says the Crusader, "was looking even more repulsively ugly than usual, his head nearly disappearing between his shoulders in consequence of his increasing bulk, and his complexion, always dark, having become nearly black. His neck is now so short from obesity that his enormous moustaches rest on each shoulder, and a perpetual scowl clouds his face. The excommunication is written there in capital letters, and he seems, and probably is, the most miserable, as he certainly is one of the worst, of men."

"Dearest sister, thou hast left us;
Fere thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God that hath bereft us;
He can all our sorrows heal.

"Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled;
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed." [COM. Mill. Star. please copy.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13, 1870.

Dr. R. V. Pierce: For the past six months I have used your Golden Medical Discovery in my practice, and in that time I have tested its merits in severe coughs, both acute and chronic, in chronic diseases of the throat, severer cases of bronchitis, general derangement of the system, constipated condition of the bowels, and wherever a thorough Alternative, or blood purifier, has been indicated. In all cases I have found it to act gently, yet thoroughly and effectually in removing the various diseased conditions, and bringing about a healthy action throughout the system.

Yours fraternally,

H. L. HALL, M. D.
