Commissioner Stanford reported hav-ing visited the West Weber roads and had ordered certain work on them com-pleted; also reported a visit to the county infirmary where he found the patients in a good condition. County Recorder D, W. Eills reported to the board that his chief deputy, Da-vid Mattson had resigned and asked that John A. Bluth be appointed to fill the vacancy. The board confirmed Mr. Bluth's appointment and fixed his sal-ary at $72 per month. ary at $72 per month.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY NOTES.

The Weber Stake academy opens for the current year's work on Monday, Sept. 8. Students who commence their courses at the beginning of the school year, manifest in general greater in-terest in their studies and develop a warmer love for learning than those warmer love for learning than those who, through regiect or carelessness, delay registration for two or three months. Students are therefore urged to enter on the date of opening. Sometimes unavoidable circumstances pre-vent some from doing this. To all such a suggestion is given that they attend school on the 5th and 9th inst., register in their chosen courses, secure their text books, return to their work, and study at home. By doing this they will keep in touch with their classmates and feel more "at home" when they come back to school come back to school. The courses offered and the faculty engaged are as follows: A one year's preparatory course. A two years' commercial course. A four years' normal course. A four years' classical course Special missionary and Sunday school

Fark City, Summit Co., Aug. 30 .- On Sunday evening, says the Record, about s o'clock, while Mrs. Witt and Mrs. Hickers, with three children, were on their way to Heber, and descending from the summit, the breeching of the harness gave way, and the buggy run-ning upon the horse, caused it to run away. Just this side of Keeler's ranch the rapidly running buggy turned over, throwing all occupants to the ground with great force. The road at this point is quite stony, and all the party, ex-cept one child, were seriously injured. In their efforts to protect their little ones the methors received the full force of the fall and their injuries are most painful. They were picked up and brought back in a passing peddler's wagon, and Dr. LeCompte summoned. On examination it was ascertained that Mrs. Hickers had sustained a broken arm, a dislocated shoulder and a frac-ture of the collarbone. Mrs. Witt's left shoulder was dislocated and her collarbothe broken.
