

Refreshments were served and as usual the boys were capable of taking care of them.

The members of Utah Sorosis met at the home of Mrs. S. A. King on Second street, First West, Wednesday afternoon, and enjoyed one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the club. Mrs. King gave a paper on "Domestic Service." Mrs. Cordelia Beck read an interesting article on "Bygone Wales." Recreations of ten minutes were taken. Responses to recitations were made by each lady giving extracts from her favorite author. The question of the admission of colored clubs to the general federation came up and to the general discussion followed. A very spirited discussion followed. The article, "The Rushing in of Fools," by L. D. Hasterforth was read and it was possible to strengthen the opposition to the admission of the colored clubs. Club adjourned to meet again on one week with Mrs. King.

Word has been received from Mrs. Ida Smoot Duenberry, that she, with her companions arrived safely in Washington, D. C., and that she suffered but little inconvenience from her terrible experience had in the runaway the night before she left the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Corfman entertained Doctor Clifton on Monday evening at their cottage on Third East First North. Those invited were Third East First North, Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Goodwin, Miss Towle, Miss Deely, Miss Goodwin, Miss Jackson, Miss Northrup, Miss Florence Pond, Miss Baker.

Rev. and Mrs. Barnes are "at home" to their friends Mondays at the McGuire cottage on First East 150 North. The Terpsichore ball danced at the Mozart pavilion Wednesday evening was an exceptionally jolly one and was followed by several chafing dish suppers.

May 28 is the time set for the reunion of all those who have ever been students of the Brigham Young academy. A meeting of the various committees will meet Tuesday evening to decide on a plan of operation. Prof. G. H. Brimhall and J. B. Keeler were appointed to confer with the Alumni association officers to secure their cooperation. In the matter, Apostle Reed Smart and Dr. J. M. Tanner were appointed committee on transportation. Three members of the Alumni association will be requested to act with Prof. G. H. Brimhall, Dr. Tanner and Mrs. Temple Smart Taylor in the preparation of a program for the reunion. Miss Robinson of the Franklin school will go with the Tabernacle choir to California.

Dr. Clifton of Chicago spent Tuesday morning visiting the Proctor academy.

Mrs. Annie Jones Atkin went to Milford this week in the interest of her millinery business.

Prof. Bond Cluff Jr left Provo for Beaver Monday evening, to look after the interests of the B. Y. Academy branch school.

CLUB CHAT.

At the Woman's Republican club on Wednesday afternoon Lincoln's birthday was patriotically celebrated. The address of Hon. Daniel Harrington, orator of the day, was especially interesting and instructive. The early life of the great commoner from his birth in Hardin county, Ky., to the presidency, including the debates with Senator Douglas, was presented with skill and surpassing interest. Speaking of Mr. Lincoln as a national character, Mr. Harrington asserted that though not supposed to be greatly schooled in diplomacy his keen insight and incisive speech made him superior even to his great secretary of state, W. H. Seward; not claiming to be a rhetorician, yet his answer to Horace freely more than refuted the great editor. In oratory, Col. Ingerson said of him that while Everett, at Gettysburg, had spoken three hours and Lincoln six minutes, the speech of Everett would never be read and that of Lincoln never forgotten. At the close the speaker read Mr. Higbee's celebrated poem, "In Memoriam." A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Harrington at the close of his address. Other delightful features of the afternoon were a song by Mrs. Walter Frazer and two violin solos by Mr. Will Davis. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

The Men's Unity club held an interesting meeting on Monday night, the chief topic being the discussion of the desirability of providing a suitable home for the club, with the result that a committee was appointed to act and report as soon as possible upon the subject.

The Council of Jewish Women held an open meeting on Wednesday and a delightful program was rendered. Mrs. Coulter, of Ogden, giving an interesting paper entitled, "The Benefits of the Federation to the Individual Club." Rabbi Reynolds speaking on the "Possibilities of the Jew in the United States."

WALES TO REPRESENT EDWARD.

King Edward has appointed the Prince of Wales to represent him at the coronation ceremony of the young king of Spain, which takes place May 11, next. This is the very latest picture of Edward and Wales; taken since the close of the year of mourning.

States," and Miss Strauss, of New York and Mrs. John Reed, giving some clever readings supplemented by a charming solo, "The Island of Dreams," by Miss Mooney. Refreshments were served after the program.

Tuesday was open day at the Reviewers' and the feature of the day was the reading by Mrs. Adams of letters from the father, W. C. Damon, who is commissioner of education in the Philippines.

The D. A. R. will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Chisholm on the afternoon of Washington's birthday, the chief feature of the meeting to be an address by Mrs. Weid of Iowa, entitled, "Ours." Mrs. Anna C. Plummer will render vocal solos.

The Woman's Democratic club held an interesting meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cohen.

The Cleofan met with Mrs. Clara Clawson on Tuesday and the topic of the afternoon was "Michael Angelo," by Mrs. Annette W. Culmer. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Clawson and the topic, "Influence of the Renaissance" will be given by Mrs. Susie R. Wells.

At the Reviewers' club on Monday Mrs. John Atkin gave a sketch of short story writers, and Mrs. Elmer Jones read Kipling's poem "The Islanders," which appeared in last Saturday's "News." It was open day and about 25 guests were present. Refreshments were served after the program.

The tourist section of the Ladies Literary club will meet Monday morning Feb. 17, at 10 o'clock at their clubhouse. The topics will be Nuremberg and Regensburg by Mrs. Woodruff and Life and Works of Schiller by Mrs. A. C. Ewing.

The February meeting of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers is ordered cancelled owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. Hyde and Vice-President Mrs. Douglass.

A business meeting will be held March 21 at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. C. E. Hyde, 50 West North Temple street, to which all members are invited.

The program for the fourth biennial of the National Council of Women is taking shape. The first evening, Feb. 19, will have for its topic, "Organized Effort Among Women," and it is expected that Mrs. L. M. Stevens of Maine, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, will speak for that work. Mrs. Weaver for that of the Rathbone Sisters of the World. Mrs. Montfort for church work. Mrs. Penwick Miller for work of English women, and Mrs. Sewall for the International Council. The second evening will be devoted to a presentation of "Cosmopolitan America" with representatives from New England, the Southern States, the great cities, the Pacific coast, to speak. Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, Mrs. Conley-Ward, Mrs. Sanborn, and others are expected. The third evening, Feb. 21, will have for its topic, "The Ethics of Race Relationship," with representatives to speak for the African-American, the Indian, the Women of our New Possessions, and, it is hoped, the Chinese. The Rev. Anna Shaw will be the closing speaker. The fourth evening, which falls on Feb. 22, will be a patriotic celebration, at which Mrs. Mary Love Dickinson has been invited to preside. At this Mrs. Ellen A. Richards and the Rev. Anna Garlin Spencer of Providence will speak. It is hoped that organizations send names of delegates as promptly as possible.

The rumors connecting Miss Margaret J. Evans of Minnesota with the candidacy for president of the general federation, which have finally crystallized in her name being put forth by a St. Paul paper, brings out an explicit denial from Miss Evans, who says: "I could not accept the presidency of the general federation under any circumstances. I dislike to refuse anything before it is offered to me, but I wish my position in this matter to be clearly understood."

With the recent utterances of Mrs. Henrietta on the reorganization of the general federation may be coupled a statement from Mrs. Josephine S. Yates of Kansas City, the recently elected president of the National association of Colored Women, which she has made in response to much solicitation. Explaining that her statement is not official because the matter has not been discussed formally in the association, she says that it is a consensus of opinion which she deduces from individual talk among the members and her own knowledge of their opinions. Briefly she considers that "to make race or color of one's skin the basis of one's right to membership, or other recognition in organizations supposed to be formed for the elevation of humanity, is a long step backward, and that it embodies a principle too narrow for the assumed broad-gauged mentality of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries." To the suggestion that the association had possibly first drawn the color or line in its title, she replies that from the beginning the word "color" was used under protest, as a present necessary means of distinction, and that although no club of white women has ever applied for admission, did this happen, undoubtedly it would be admitted on the same basis as the other clubs.

The latest patriotic society is called the Dames of 1846. It was organized recently in Texas in honor of the soldiers of the war with Mexico, which lasted from 1845 to 1849. Miss Lucretia Hart Clay of Lexington, Ky., is historian.

The state federation of Maine proposes to put the organization on a good financial basis, by which the running expenses of the organization can be met out of its treasury. To increase the funds for this purpose, it is proposed that an annual tax of $2 shall be levied on all state clubs having a membership of twenty or less. For all clubs with a membership of over twenty the annual tax shall be ten cents per capita.

Every club to be represented at the annual meeting by its president and one delegate. It is proposed, too, that out of this increased treasury the expenses of the state president shall be paid to both state and national conventions. All the clubs of the state that have so far voted on the proposition have supported it, but as it cannot go into effect under another year, the clubs of the state are asked to submit to a five-cent per capita tax to defray the expenses of the state president to the biennial meeting at Los Angeles.

The Wednesday club of St. Louis has enthusiastically taken up the project of a permanent clubhouse for the general federation, as projected by the Louisiana purchase committee, and has pledged $5,000 as a club to the movement, with intimation that additional individual subscriptions will swell that amount considerably. Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the Missouri state federation, is a member of the club.

The interest in the arts and crafts movement is spreading among the clubs. The Rhode Island state federation has an exhibit planned and well under way. This will include a display of the handicrafts of women in the state of Rhode Island, and will be supplemented by the unique collection of original work owned by Mrs. E. S. Colclough, and which will illustrate with an address she will make on the "Arts and Crafts of Primitive Women." In this connection it is interesting to quote from a talk this week at the Women's conference of the society of Ethical Culture, given by Mr. Douglas Volk on "Genuineness in Arts and Handicrafts." He regards the increasing interest in the revival of handicraft as most encouraging, but begs that the new interest be not allowed to fall back into a mere artistic fad. "Properly developed," says Mr. Volk, "it may be a powerful factor in opposing the greed for gain that characterizes mercantile life. He goes on to emphasize that it must be genuine and honest. 'A little handicraft,' he says, 'on a machine-made article is the worst of shams.'"

H. Seever, a carpenter and builder of Kenton, Tenn., when suffering intensely from an attack of bilious colic, sent to a near by drug store for something to relieve him. The druggist sent him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, three doses of which effected a permanent cure. This is the only remedy that can be depended upon in the most severe cases of colic and cholera morbus. Most druggists know this and recommend it when such a medicine is called for. For sale by all druggists.

Choice Summer Fabrics That Have Just Come.

The large front window will greet you on Monday with a score of dainty fabrics, forerunners of the coming summer styles—and much like apple blossoms on the snow they appear. But day by day now, despite winter's chilling blast, is time to watch for those that come in small pieces—the exclusive sorts which are scarcely shown are picked up. This past week, there came to us exquisitely dainty swisses, embroidered and tinselled, some up to $1.75 a yard, others as reasonable as 35c; a goodly number of ginghams, and a new fabric called Simile Soie that has a mercerized finish and so quite silky looking, like a new. New styles, but now to be most popular for women's shirt waists, children's dresses, etc.; dark and light colors. 15c to 25c a yard.

Women's "Premiere" Kid Gloves Instead of $2—$1.50

This particular line has been broken by the small sizes having sold down to a very few, so reduced price. And very little coaxing will be needed to bring those women who have a knowledge of the "Premiere" here to get them during this sale. They are kid gloves that stand quietly by as "best" and rare indeed is a deviation from regular. All seams are hand sewn, backs stitched with self, black or white, these colors; black, white, brown, tan, mode, gray, opera shades; sizes 6 to 7 1/4. Instead of $2.00, Monday and the week—$1.50.

Jardinieres Half Priced.

Jardinieres with pedestals, handsome designs, the $3.50 for—$4.25; the $10.00 for—$5.00; the $12.00 for—$6.00; the $15.00 for—$7.50. Separate Jardinieres, Japanese designs in white and blue, $3.50 each regular—$1.75.
