WASHINGTON, 13. - After the morning hour Beck called up his political assessment resolution.

After debate on Beck's resolution and Hale's substitute, referred to the committee on judiciary.

Platt was relieved from the chairmanship of the committee on promanship of the committee on pen-

Pendleton's civil service bill was resumed, Hawley taking the floor.
The formal amendments reported by the committee were agreed to The question was then on Hoar's amendment providing that competitive examinations shall be as far as possible upon subjects embraced in a good common school education.

After some discussion, Hoar waived his amendment in favor of one offered by Logan, providing that examinations shall be practical in their character, and relate to matters which will fairly test the relative fitness and capacity of applicants to discharge the duties of the service into which they seek to be admitted. This powder never varies. A marver of parity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and enrince be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphare Pendleton having charge of the bill, assented to the amendment; adopted.

Sherman moved to strike out the provision in section four making a permanent appropriation for the excenses of the civil service commision; agreed to.

On motion of Sherman, the provision for the payment of the ex-penses of the commissioners was limited to traveling expenses. Coke offered an amendment, which was ordered printed, providing that for the purpose of equalizing the appointments between the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia; and also between the political parties, all persons now in office, place or emolument who would have been within the operation of the act had it been in force when they respectively entered the public service, shall, within twelve months from the approval of this act, comply with the terms and conditions of applicants under this act for origin-

The Senate went into executive session, and when the doors reopened adjourned.

WASHINGTON, I3.—Randall's motion was agreed to, to table the motion to reconsider the vote by which the House decided to recommit the Congressional library bill, with instructions to report back a bill for a library on ground owned by the United States in Washington.

The House went into the committee on the appropriation bill. The Committee rejected all amendments reported the bill to the House, and it passed.

A small band of 'Chippewa Indi-ans arrived to-day from the Turtle Mountain country, Northern Dakota. They come here without the sanction of the Indian Office, to prosanction of the Indian Office, to pro-test against the opening of a large area of country to the north and west of Devil's Lake, as contemplat-ed by a recent order of Secretary Teller. The Secretary holds these Indians have no title whatever to the country. He finds that in all the published accounts of the Northwest Territory, even in the writings of Jesuit missionaries, two or three hundred years ago, the country belonged to the Sioux. The visitors had an interview with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to-day. Bishop Whipple, it is understood, favors the claim of the Indians.

General Lew Wallace, Minister to l'urkey, has been awarded $15,000 by the Mexican Government under peculiar circumstances. In 1865 Wallace entered the services of the Mexican Government. At the time of the French invasion, he made an appeal to Americans to enter the Mexican service, and the French Government protested against the violation of the neutrality laws. Our Government which was favorable to the Government of the French from Mexican soil, made no vigorous effort to have Wallace arrested.

After Maximillian's death, Wallace returned to the United States and filed a claim for $15,000 for service rendered, against the Mexican Government. A day or two since, Wallace was awarded the money.
