

CRY OF "FIRE" CAUSED A PANIC

DETROIT Ten-Cent Store, Just Opened, Was Crowded When AWFUL Word Was Sounded.

WOMEN AFTER BARGAINS.

Two Reached for Same Article, Scuffle Ensued, Then Came Dread Sound That Maddened the Mob.

DETROIT, July 3.—Half a dozen women were seriously injured today when a cry of "fire" caused a panic in Kresge's 10-cent store at Woodward avenue and State street while the place was jammed with people. One child is dying and about 20 women or children are suffering from severe injuries. The store was having its opening store and the five-story building today was literally jammed with people, principally women and children. It is estimated the 600 women were busy searching for bargains on the second floor when the panic started. Two women are said to have reached simultaneously for the same article and this caused a little excitement in their immediate neighborhood and attracted the attention of those nearby. The on-lookers pressed about them and suddenly the cry "fire" was heard. It turned the hundreds of shoppers into a maddened, fighting mob, intent on reaching the stairway at the rear of the building. They surged down the aisles and packed themselves into such a solid mass on the stairs that the guard rails gave way, precipitating many of the struggling women to the floor below. A moment later the floor below and the second floor above were one mass of screaming women and children. Clothes were torn, hats were ripped off and those who were unfortunate enough to find their footing were trampled upon. Employees of the store assisted by policemen finally convinced the mob that the building was not on fire and succeeded in calming them. Ambulances were summoned and the injured were taken to hospitals.

Washington, July 3.—The income tax question was brought up promptly in the senate today and an agreement was reached to vote at 1 o'clock next Monday afternoon on Senator Brown's resolution providing for the submission of the states of an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the imposition of an income tax. The agreement to vote on the income tax is equivalent to a declaration that the senate will proceed with its business on the 5th of July, despite the observance of the holiday.

MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM.

As soon as the agreement to vote was made the tariff bill was taken up and Mr. Aldrich presented his maximum and minimum rate amendment. Mr. Aldrich immediately proceeded to explain the senate's substitute for the original maximum and minimum provision of the bill as it passed the house. The house provided for a specified increase of the rates of duty on numerous articles fixed by the bill in case on the 5th of July the country from which any given article should come to grant to the imports from the United States the same terms given to imports from the most favored nations. The senate committee on finance presented a complete substitute providing for an increase of 25 per cent over the rates of the Payne-Aldrich bill against countries which by expert bounty or otherwise discriminate against the United States. The amendment provided that the additional rate should go into effect immediately unless the president should, after March 31, 1910, issue a proclamation that no such discrimination existed. The measure was previously reported by the finance committee was further amended to exempt the islands of Guam and Tutuila, as well as the Philippines from its operation.

Daniels was represented in court by A. V. Taylor, who has been a guardian of the family, and after his explanation to the court sentence was suspended. EL MONTE HOTEL BURNED.

to pay the members salaries of $7,500 annually. Mr. Aldrich said experts were his would fund the bill, but he believes politics would be considered by the president in that connection.

"From the morning papers," said Mr. Aldrich, "the director of the census is making his appointments for partisan reasons. If that is true, it is the first time it has been done in the history of this country." In view of the report he said he would not trust the executive authority to make the appointments without some restriction.

Mr. Aldrich said he did not believe census appointments were being made for political reasons.

"I know the president of the United States too well," he said, "to believe he would permit anything of that kind."

Declaring the trend of the times was toward non-partisanship, Mr. Root said the very purpose sought by the senate senator would be defeated by dividing these appointments between Republicans and Democrats. He pointed to the record of the president as a guarantee that he would not be influenced by partisan motives.

"We are united in our esteem for the president," said Mr. Money, "but under the dispensation of providence he might die and we might have a bad man like the president of the senate and he might make partisan appointments."

The vice president joined in the sentiment that became general as the Mississippi senator proceeded to show the temptation of men to make appointments with a partisan bias.

"Then there is the chairman of the finance committee," he added. "He has never been charged with being anybody's son Sunday school boy. He has never been shot at as an angel."

The discussion of Mr. Culberson's amendment was incidental and when it was concluded the controversy over the minimum and maximum provision was renewed.

Senator Shively discussed at length the maximum and minimum provision, declaring that the maximum rate would be the real tariff.

By a vote of 11 to 43 the amendment offered by Mr. Culberson was rejected. Mr. La Follette, being the only Republican who voted with the Democrats. The senate admitted to four the number of members of any one party which might be appointed as executive officers, the matter of discrimination by other countries. An amendment by Mr. Gore substituting the provision of the Dingley act authorizing the negotiation of reciprocity treaties for the maximum and minimum clause was defeated, 16 to 29.

MUST BEAR MAGIC SIGN.

Approval by Triumvirate Necessary Preliminary to Council's Action.

When the finance committee met in the chamber today morning to consider the applications of the 24 rejected saloonmen, the triumvirate, Frank I. Seifert, J. E. Darner and C. J. Crabtree, who hatched up the plot to punish the brewers because they would not swear allegiance to the "American" party, was not present. The committee examined the leases, the bills of sale of the fixtures and the bond. In nearly every case the leases, bond and affidavits as to the ownership of the fixtures were regular and made before the application for a renewal of license under the new ordinance. The applications were rejected on the basis of some technicalities. This, however, was the fault of the officials and not the saloonmen because the latter had not been properly instructed as to how an application should be made.

Many of these leases were held by the brewers and the fixtures owned by them. Under the new law, if the saloonmen have purchased them, however, and where the transfer has not been made, the saloonmen must be held responsible for them. It is probably that none of the applicants will be rejected. The license fee will be reduced to $100, the same as on bags amount to about 25 per cent. The new rates, which will go into effect about Aug. 9, are to enable coast points to compete with eastern goods.

CRITICIZED BY DANIEL.

Moving to strike from the amendment the maximum tariff on tea, Senator Daniel criticized the committee's amendment.

Mr. Daniel criticized the proposed legislation as authorizing the president to make treaties with foreign powers without the consent of the senate. "When this amendment is agreed to," he said, "the senate is eliminated as a treaty-making power so far as these countries are concerned. It is becoming more and more common to eliminate the senate from the exercise of its powers."

Senator Nelson, Curtis and Reed, speaking in favor of the elimination of the duty on tea and coffee, Mr. Daniel's amendment to strike out that provision was accepted by Mr. Aldrich and agreed to.

Senator Aldrich agreed with Mr. Root there was no necessity to hold a club over the countries that export these articles to the United States.

Senator Culberson offered an amendment to make non-partisan the appointment of the tariff commission and
