The committee also recommended that the following persons be referred to the examining committee: G. M. McKay and wife, Mrs. F. R. Knight, E. S. Hallack, Miss Cook, Miss Jeannie M. Carney. The report was adopted and the committee authorized to make contracts with the teachers.

On motion of Colonel Nelson it was decided to open the schools on September 15.

The clerk was instructed to notify the committee on site to report suitable quarters for the use of the board.

The meeting then adjourned for one week.

THE MARSHALL'S SPOTTERS.

Edward Ray is the name of an individual who lives at No. 218 north, West Temple Street. He is about five feet nine inches in height, slender build, thin face, brown complexion, small gray eyes, and "sway-backed" nose. He usually has a reddish brown suit of clothes, and wears a straw hat with a black band. Has an incipient mustache. He claims that he has been engaged as a fireman and engineer, and says he has worked for G. F. Culmer, J. W. Snell, and the University. His brother, Albert Ray, lives at the same house. He is of diminutive size, and has a record of a conviction in Commissioner Norrell's court for an assault upon a young girl, Rose Turner.

Mrs. Sophia Johnson lives next door to the Rays. She takes in washing for a living. Miss Clara Johnson, who resides near the City Hall, is an old friend of Mrs. Sophia's, and frequently visits her, sometimes stopping over night.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night Deputy Marshal Bush went to Mrs. Johnson's house, and said he had a warrant for her husband's arrest. The husband was not there, but Mrs. Johnson and Miss Clara were present, and were summoned as witnesses. Edward Ray was also hanging around, to direct Bush's movements.

August 25th, Bush went to Sandberg's furniture store and asked for Mr. Johnson. He was informed that he was not there. Peter Olen, of the Fifteenth Ward, is employed as a cabinet maker at Mr. Sandberg's. Edward Ray came and selected him as Mr. Johnson, at the same time placing him under arrest. Mr. Sandberg said that Ray had no right to personate an officer, so he was compelled to leave. Then Bush came in and arrested Mr. Olen as "Mr. Johnson." The deputy was asked for his warrant, but he would not show it. Mr. Moyle was called in, and in reply to Mr. Olen, informed him that if an officer wanted to make an arrest for a misdemeanor, not committed in his presence, he must have a warrant. Bush threatened to arrest Mr. Moyle, but the latter was not to be bluffed. Bush still claimed to have a warrant, but he could not produce it, the fact being that he was not stating the truth.

A large crowd gathered, and when Bush began to use force, Mr. Olen was advised to go along, which he did, notwithstanding the illegal proceeding of the deputy. He was kept in custody till this afternoon, when he was arraigned before Commissioner Greenman on a charge of unlawful cohabitation.

At the examination Mr. Olen pleaded not guilty, and also stated that he was not Mr. Johnson, as named in the complaint. Mrs. Edw. Ray testified that he had seen the defendant call at Mrs. Johnson's and saw him take one meal there.

Mrs. Johnson testified that Mr. Olen had been to her house—that he came with washing every week,

He had on two or three occasions taken a cup of coffee with her, when she happened to be at lunch when he came. She also testified that she was the plural wife of Jas. Johnson, to whom she had sent word, this morning, of Bush's visit last night.

Miss Clara Johnson testified that she was not Mr. Johnson's wife, or Mr. Olen's, but that she was an unmarried woman, and had no desire to change her state of single-blessedness.

Then Edward Ray was called to prove that the defendant was Mr. Johnson, but he finally admitted that he did not know. Mr. Moyle picked up Ray on cross examination, and asked him concerning his business as a spotter. At first he declined to answer, but the attorney went after him in good style, and elicited the fact that for some time past Ray has been engaged as a spotter to hunt up cases against "Mormons." By his sneaking about he would get what he supposed to be a sufficient clue to arrest a "Mormon," and would then give the information. He got $20 a case whenever a conviction was secured.

When this contemptible wretch was excused from the witness stand, his brother Albert was called, and his testimony showed that he was in the same boat as the fellow who had preceded him. He knew the defendant's name was Johnson because a milkman had asked for a man of that name, and had then gone and spoken to Mr. Olen.

This was all the evidence, and the commissioner continued the case till 10 a. m. August 26th.

TAXATION AS IT IS: A SAMPLE.

My residence, consisting of one city lot, three quarters of a mile from Main Street, containing nothing whatever but the rude shelter over my family, has been raised from last year's assessment, $3,000—by the city assessor—to $26,000 this year. The consequence is my taxes, last year ninety dollars, are this year on the same property—no improvements whatever—over five hundred dollars. The figures were placed upon the dead "boom" value. The "boom" died immediately after the city election, and this valuation was placed upon the property doubtless long after that time. I have never been offered for said property as much as one-third of the present assessed value. Were I physically able to labor, it would take the entire year's wages to meet the taxes—not one cent left to support a large family. All this simply means mortgages to meet taxes and be eaten up thereby, or sell out or be sold out. For in Salt Lake City you shall not live without paying that sum for the privilege. This city has been my home for nearly thirty years. When does forbearance cease to be a virtue? Yours,

August 22, 1890. CITIZEN.
