More Beecher-Tilton—Moulton's Statement.

NEW YORK, 11.—The Brooklyn Eagle of this afternoon has the following:

"Moulton's statement is unexpectedly brief, making not more than five or six foolscap pages, not closely written. Moulton says, in substance, that all he knows about the difficulty between Beecher and Tilton was intrusted to him in confidence, with all the documents he has been furnished, relating directly or indirectly to the case, and that these documents were intrusted to him in confidence. He says that he has known Tilton since 1857, and that he became personally acquainted with Beecher in 1869, and mainly through this case. Notwithstanding the fact that he has the consent of both Beecher and Tilton to tell all he knows about the case, and to furnish all the documents he has in relation to it, and the additional fact that he has been twice summoned before the committee, he says that he can not, in conscience, and as a man of honor, disclose any confidences which have been placed in him. He came into the case as a peacemaker, to settle it, and all that he has done has been done in that direction. Without his knowledge and against his wishes, certain documents connected with the case have been made known through Tilton in his statement made before the committee, and that so many of the original documents as he has copies of, and which have been made public, he feels under obligations to place in the hands of the committee if necessary. Moulton had copies of all these documents made and he handed these copies to the committee, holding himself ready to produce the originals when the committee desired to verify them. Beyond this, Moulton was not willing to make any statement, nor did he feel himself justified, in honor or in conscience, in producing any documents save those quoted by Tilton in his statement. Moulton handed the committee his statement and the copies of the documents quoted in Tilton's communication. It appears from a hurried comparison made by the committee, that Tilton, in quoting the documents, arranged them to suit himself, and in some cases, only part of a document is quoted, and various significant passages are omitted. In one case a letter is divided by Tilton and made to seem as if there were two letters, apparently for the purpose of accumulating the testimony. The committee look on these changes as very significant, and as bearing heavily against Tilton. Mr. Moulton was briefly cross-examined, and he maintained the same position. He reiterated what appeared in his statement, that if any attempt was made to assail his position as the friend of both parties, or to question his honor, he might be under the necessity of making a further statement, but for the present he contented himself with furnishing the committee exact copies of the documents quoted by Tilton.

Dissatisfaction—Sherman Interviewed—More Mystery.

There is great dissatisfaction with the drift of the Beecher scandal, the withholding of Moulton's statement creates much unfavorable comment, and there is a belief that a compromise is on foot. The Argus says it is even stated that Mrs. Tilton is prepared to state that she has been laboring under hallucination, that Mr. Beecher is willing to resign his pastorate, that the society will refuse to accept his resignation, and that Mr. Tilton will, on these conditions, again open the door of his house to his wife. Gen. Tracy said to-day, that the committee had not decided whether it will keep Moulton's statement until all the proceedings are printed or keep it back altogether. General Butler had a long interview with Moulton this morning, and subsequently with Tracy, who had just come from Beecher's.

Mr. Shearman, in an interview to-day, said, in relation to the publication of Moulton's statement, that Moulton insisted that a pledge of secrecy should be given by the committee, that none of his testimony should be made public until a number of the committee named and he should meet together, and agree upon its publication in whole or in part, or upon its suppression until the investigating committee had taken all the testimony, and was ready to report the verdict accompanied by the evidence taken in full upon which the verdict was grounded. This member of the committee was District Attorney Winslow. The committee wished to publish the statement in full, but Moulton absolutely refused. After further questions Shearman said, "I know all Frank Moulton can say, or has to say, and I know that there is nothing he has in his possession that can implicate Mr. Beecher one iota, because there is nothing in existence to implicate him. Why if I could tell you what I know about this case, it would show you Mr. Beecher's motives in keeping silent, and would show him blameless as clearly as if a calcium light was turned on the whole story. If Mr. Beecher had spoken long ago these clouds would have disappeared like mist before a summer wind, and yet even now I would not advise Mr. Beecher to speak out, knowing as I do the circumstances of the case. Though his own character would seem to demand that he should tell the public what they have absolutely no right to know, there is prurient curiosity abroad to know every detail of this disgusting business which is absolutely shocking. Mr. Beecher has held his tongue out of respect for the feelings of others. Why, look at this Hooker exhibition! Mr. Beecher tried to keep that quiet to spare the feelings of his family and friends, and mark you, there are others, but their case is different from hers. She, it was well known, was weak minded, and the Woodhull people got hold of her and preyed upon her weakened intellect. If Mr. Beecher opened his mouth and told his story, distinguished citizens who have been mixed up in this matter, would suffer, and in silence he has spared their feelings. I mean by this that Woodhull controls the nest of blackmailers, which is the sole object of their lives. They have inveighed into their toils distinguished men and women, and they have sought Beecher as a target for their operations because he was a shining light. I tell you he can make this thing as clear as the noonday sun, and if he should, there will some people suffer whom he has spared for a long, long time at the cost of his own ease of mind and a dastardly persecution. When I reflect on what would be the consequence of his telling out what he knows about the whole business I would advise him, even now, to explain away only what is necessary to the committee."

Stolen Bond Found.

On searching the trunk of the forger Van Etten, who committed suicide about a week ago, a thousand dollar bond of the Fond Du Lac R. R. was found, which on inquiry, proved to have been stolen from the residence of A. O. Burton about ten months ago, together with others amounting to over $20,000. Immediately after the robbery the residences of Judge Reed, at Montpelier, and Judge Barber, at St. Albans, were robbed of considerable property by a gang of burglars. Inquiries at the Harlem bank led to the discovery that the dividend on the stock had been paid to one Cassidy, alias Watson. This afternoon officers traced the stolen Harlem bonds to Abraham Whipple and John W. Devere, both of whom were arrested. Cassidy is at present in Ludlow St. jail, on another charge.

Excitement Increasing—Dead.

MEMPHIS, 11.—The excitement about the Austin troubles is increasing. The steamer White left here with three hundred armed men this afternoon for the scene of the trouble; a large number have also gone by land.

Paul Reeves, shot in a melee at Somerville, died to-day.

Negroes Killed.

The Avalanche Helena special says that eight or ten negroes were killed in the fight at Austin yesterday. They are still gathering, but probably the whites can hold out till help comes. Governor Ames has not answered the telegram asking the aid of troops.

Fast Trotting.

BUFFALO, N. Y., 11.—In a 2.24 race here, at Driving Park, for a purse of $4,500, divided among four horses, "Lulu" won in three straight heats, "Derby" second; time, 2.21, 2.24½ and 2.16¾. This is the fastest third heat ever trotted in a race.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

CAIRO, Ills., 11.—At St. John's, Illinois, this afternoon, the boiler of the Illinois Central Coal Mining Co's Works exploded, demolishing the works and killing three men, Alexander Hanson, Preston Smith and Andrew Major; two others were badly hurt.

Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, 12.—Wool from Colorado, washed 25 @ 30, Colorado unwashed 22½ @ 25; Texas fine and medium 25 @ 30, Texas coarse 20 @ 25; Cala fine and medium 25 @ 35, Cala coarse 25 @ 30.

Collyer Beaten.

PITTSBURG, 4 p.m., 11.—The Collyer-Edwards fight occurred this afternoon. The men went into the ring at 2.30, p.m., and up to four o'clock eight rounds have been fought. The first was won by Collyer, the remainder by Edwards, who knocked Collyer down on the second round. Collyer responded similarly on the eighth round. The betting is a hundred to twenty-five dollars in favor of Edwards.

Later. Collyer gives up the fight on the eleventh round.

The Fight.

The vicinity of the newspaper offices were thronged this afternoon by people waiting for news of the fight. The boat landed with difficulty, owing to sharp watching on the part of the police. The battle took place at Mill Creek, the dividing line between Pennsylvania and West Virginia, about two miles from the line of the Pittsburg and Cleveland railway. Collyer claimed that Edwards had "greased" in his hands, a preparation said to produce blindness in his opponent. The referees made no decision. It is believed the fight will be given to Collyer and the stakes to Edwards. The fight lasted twenty-five minutes.

"Bolters" in Possession.

TALAHASSEE, Fla., 11.—The Republican congressional convention was, to-day, prevented from assembling, for nominating purposes, by bolters, who occupied the capitol and barred the doors, and refused regular delegates admission.

Found.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., 11.—D. B. Main, who was abducted from Midway by masked men on Sunday night, has been found, still alive, though terribly bruised, in the woods near that town, he knows and will bring to prosecution some of his abductors.

Not Charlie Ross.

BENNINGTON, Vt., 11.—Charley Ross' uncle arrived to-day; the little boy detained by the police is not his nephew.

WEST INDIES.

Killed.

HAVANA, 11.—The rebel General Puncho Vega was killed in a skirmish, at Teoy Behito, on the 1st inst.
