THE WAR IN SOUDAN.

31 Thousand Troops Now Gathered at Wady Halfa.

ITALIANS KILL GERMANES.

Roman Paper Admits English's Claim—British Commanders Start for the Front.

LONDON, March 22.—The Standard has a dispatch from Cairo which says there are already 31,000 troops at Wady Halfa, but there is no intention of marching upon Dongola until they have 50,000 troops.

The French ambassador, Baron de Camille, had a long interview with Lord Salisbury at the latter's residence on Monday. The conversation was reported to have dealt with the subject of the Nile expedition. A visit by an ambassador on Monday to the private palace of the British minister of foreign affairs was an unusual occurrence, and this was the first time since the outbreak of the war in the Sudan that an ambassador had been so honored.
